Thrust Toward Bengasi as Spain Announces Her Non-Belligerency.

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's battered invasion armies, reeling in retreat in Russia and North Africa, were reported to have abandoned their Finnish allies today as Soviet dispatches announced huge new gains in the 17-day-old counter-offensive on the central front.

"Reports from Helsinki (the Finn capital) this morning say that all German troops have been withdrawn from Finland in a great hurry," the British radio declared.

The broadcast said Finnish lines had been shattered between Lakes Onega and Ladoga by a Red army drive in the vicinity of the Leningrad-Murmansk railroad.

On the Libyan desert battlefield, British troops were officially reported to have captured Derna airport, 100 miles northwest of Tobruk. Derna itself was said to be still in Axis hands.

British forces were reported advancing "in all directions" west and north of Mekili, 40 miles below Derna, with the Germans and Italians fleeing in two bodies—one heading toward Derna and the other toward Bengasi on the Gulf of Sirte.

The thrust to Derna airport meant that the British had fought their way approximately 195 miles across the desert from the Egyptian frontier since Nov. 18, when the new campaign was launched with American-made tanks and planes.

A British spokesman said imperial troops had captured Gazala.

Name 'Key Men' to Urge 'All-Out' Food Production Here

Eighteen "key men" one in each of Richland county's townships, had been named today by the county defense board to take the government's food-for-defense program directly to farmers this winter and next spring.

Appointed following a meeting yesterday afternoon of county farm leaders and implement dealers with the defense board, the township leaders will deal specifically this winter with a campaign to put farm equipment in condition for an early start in the spring.

The 18 township men will meet next Tuesday evening at the county AAA office in Mansfield to map further plans. They are expected to choose from 10 to 15 others in their townships to help them with a house-to-house campaign. They will distribute imple-

OPM Orders Close Plant Doors Here

Perfect Rubber Halts Operations Because of Material Curb.

Government control of vital defense materials today forced the first Mansfield factory to close its doors.

The plant affected was the Perfect Rubber company, 146 Wayne street, of which C. H. Wolfe is president.

Wolfe said the entire factory force—61 employes—was laid off today because this week's Office of Production Management order curtailing civilian use of rubber had cut off its supplies of that material.

Wolfe said that the company had been producing inflated rubber balls for children and that last year it turned out approximately 3,500,000 of them in addition to a small amount of finished sponge rubber for use in shoes. Shoe rubber was also cut from production by the OPM order.

The company is not in a position to bid on government orders, Wolfe said, because its equipment

SET UP DEFENSE SQUADS TONIGHT

Civilian Committeemen To Complete Plans For City Precautionary Program.

Mansfield's civilian defense committee was ready today to proceed with establishment of the various auxiliary units and affiliated groups which will comprise the city's defense organization.

The 11-member defense committee will meet tonight to perfect plans for creation of auxiliary police, fire, and nursing aid units, a temporary guard for city property, and a medical defense committee. The civilian defense committee is to appoint the nine members of the latter body.

Tabulations today showed that 360 citizens have enrolled for auxiliary police, fire, and nurses aid duty, it was reported by Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, chairman of the committee. This figure is only 60 per cent of the number sought.

Plans will be perfected at the meeting for setting up a guard of 50 men for city buildings. These will be drawn from membership of U. S. Sends Nazi Envoys To Fashionable Resort.

WASHINGTON—The German embassy staff and German news correspondents have been removed to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., fashionable resort, pending completion of arrangements for their departure from this country, the state department announced today.

The treatment accorded the Germans is similar to that given American embassy officials and American correspondents in Germany, who have been concentrated in Bad Nauheim.

The staff of the Hungarian legation here, and Hungarian consuls also will be concentrated at White Sulphur Springs. Japanese consular staffs from throughout the United States will be concentrated at Hot Springs, Va.

TALK IN WASHINGTON

Representatives Likely To Convene In January, Settle Main Trends.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The United States, Great Britain and Russia are expected to take leading parts in a conference of anti-Axis powers to be convened in Washington in the immediate future, it was learned authoritatively today.

The participating nations presumably would attempt to co-ordinate all their military and economic resources to combat German, Japanese, and Italian aggression on fronts which extend around the world.

Diplomatic discussions already under way, it was learned, are designed to clear the way for the proposed conference by reaching preliminary agreements on the most urgent problems which require close collaboration on unified action between the nations.

The state department has made no announcement of the impendng conference.

One reliable source reported, however, that while the United States, Great Britain, and Soviet Russia had taken the lead in planning the conference, all nations with independent forces fighting against the Axis—particularly in the Pacific—would probably take part in all deliberations.

China has valiantly resisted Japanese aggression for more than four years, and the Netherlands and the British dominions now are defending strategic outposts in the South Pacific.

The date for the conference has not been set, but in view of the urgency of the situation it is expected that preliminary sessions will be held in January.

Mansfield College Girl Injured In Fall From Horse

Seriously injured in a fall from a horse, Miss Katherine Steil, Mansfield student at Sweet Briar college, was reported in a "fair condition" today at Memorial hospital at nearby Lynchburg, Va., where she was taken following the accident.

Miss Steil has a fractured vertebra and an abrasion on the face and will probably be in the hospital for a month or more, according to advices to The News-Journal from Lynchburg.

Hospital attaches there said Miss Steil will be placed in a cast in about three weeks. An attending nurse said she "will not be able to leave the hospital probably until February."

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Steil, 459 Marion avenue, her parents, have been at her side since yesterday. They were informed of the accident Wednesday night.

Miss Steil is an only child and this is her second year at Sweet Briar college.

Aviatrix Held as Agent of Nazis Gets 'Jail Experience'

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Miss Laura Ingalls, the noted aviatrix, was getting "jail experience" today for her failure to register as an alleged paid agent of the German government.

The 38-year-old former vaudeville dancer was arraigned yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Needham Turnage and was given until Dec. 26 to prepare her plea. Unable to post $7,500 bail, she was taken to the District of Columbia jail.

"I always wanted some jail experience," Miss Ingalls said.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents who took Miss Ingalls into custody Wednesday night held her incommunicado for 15 hours.

Restaurant Owners Hope To 'Start Ball Rolling'

Parkway Proprietors Believe Their Donation of Full Day's Receipts Will Give Others An Idea.

By ESTHER SMITH

"It takes somebody to start something."

That's why James Georgopulos and his Parkway restaurant partner, George Margaritus, are turning over an entire day's receipts from their restaurant, 18 Park avenue west, to the war emergency fund of Richland county chapter of the Red Cross, Dec. 29. They hope other business establishments will follow suit.

The talk of the town right now, Georgopulos said he conceived the idea from the way people followed suit last week after he sent out coffee, doughnuts and cigarets to a soldier-guard stationed at the intersection in front of his place of business while a coast artillery convoy passed through the city.

"The boy was cold, said Georgopulos, recalling the bitter wind that blew that day, "and his ears were red as fire with nothing on his head but a little cap."

"I sent him some coffee, a pack of cigarets and some of the big doughnuts we make here and it wasn't long before other folks were doing likewise," the former native of Greece who has been an American citizen for 36 years continued.

"In fact, before he left," said Georgopulos, "he came in and showed me a dozen packs of cigarets that had been given him and also told me he had consumed so

FALLS FROM CAR

Baby Tumbles Out of Moving Vehicle; Not Badly Hurt.

Roy Robert Hostetter, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hostetter, Mansfield R. D. 3 was in General hospital this morning under observation for head and face injuries suffered when he fell out of an automobile traveling 45 miles an hour yesterday.

Believed to have unlatched the car door, or to have fallen out when the door became unlatched and flew open, the child rolled 30 feet and into a ditch, off the highway, suffering scratches and bruises about the head, according to Mrs. George Hostetter, the boy's grandmother.

The accident occurred about five miles east of Mansfield on U. S. route 30 while the parents were driving to Charles Mill dam. The boy's grandmother said that when the child was picked up he complained only of a pain in his head and was not even crying.

His parents rushed him to the hospital where X-rays were to be taken of his head.

GARY, Ind.—(INS)—Soot-smudged residents of Gary and its environs, cleaning up after their first experience in a "smokeout," learned with some trepidation today that the daylight blackout is going to be repeated next Monday.

The "smokeout" was staged yesterday by the largest steel mill in the world—the Gary works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation—in an endeavor to test how effectively the vast war plants might be obscured from possible enemy air raiders by a dense pall of smoke. Army officials looked on with interest.

Dense black smoke belched from the tall stacks of every plant unit. Workers built big smudge fires throughout the plants.

5 NEW POLICE PROPOSED FOR CITY DEFENSE

Mayor Asks Council To Add Men To Patrol Water Supply System.

NEED NEW RADIO CAR

Two More Urged For Traffic Duty; Decision Rests With New Council.

City council, occupied with the responsibility of insuring the city's defense against sabotage of its water supply and other vital facilities, is considering the temporary appointment of seven new policemen.

Mayor William J. Locke has asked council to employ at least five new men to help patrol the city's water supply system in a 24-hour watch calculated to thwart any effort to destroy or contaminate the city's supply.

Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals has also requested that two traffic patrolmen be added to the five original members of the traffic squad which has been on duty since last August.

The addition of these seven men would bring the department's strength to 45 men. At present, 22 patrolmen, five traffic patrolmen, an indentification officer, a traffic commissioner, two captains and three lieutenants and the police chief are included on the force.

Unless the "lame-duck" Democrat council going out of office on Dec. 31 takes action before that date, the requests for additional policemen will be handed over to the new Republican controlled council.

Five patrolmen would be used to help patrol the city's water system in a 24-hour watch. The city would have to purchase a fifth radio cruiser for this special patrol which would visit five of the city's most important wells at irregular intervals. They are the Maxwell springs pumping station, the Woodland reservoir, and the Hedges and Main street pumping stations.

The visits would not be made on a "clock-work" schedule, according to police, because this would allow any persons wishing to sabotage the city's water system to gauge the time available.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Administration leaders today encouraged a move to compromise senate and house differences on selective service legislation by making all men 20 through 44 years old subject to compulsory military service.

With both houses agreeing on provisions requiring the registration of men from 18 through 64 years old, a joint conference committee was called upon to adjust the differences created by the senate's vote yesterday to lower the active service limit to 19 and the previous house decision to retain it at 21.

Both chambers agreed to expand the present upper age limit for military service to take in men through 44 years, rather than through 35.

British Troops In Desperate Stand At Fort

Japs Land Troops on Island In Heavy Assault; Evacuation of Penang Admitted; Supreme Effort Made to Hold Malaya.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Fierce fighting on the island fortress of Hongkong was reported officially today at 3:45 p. m. (9:45 a. m., EST) with the small British garrison still holding out against a large scale assault by Japanese troops who were landed at various points.

Meanwhile, it was confirmed that the British garrison on strategic Penang island had been evacuated safely and the island surrendered to the Japanese.

"It would be safe to assume that Penang has now been occupied by the Japanese, following evacuation of the British garrison," a statement declared.

Authoritative quarters indicated that the garrison had been removed to southern Malaya. It was understood that the civilian population of Penang stayed behind.

Penang, off the west coast of Malaya about 300 miles north of Singapore, had been under Japanese attack since outbreak of war in the Pacific. It was one of Britain's most important Malayan bases.

The situation of Hongkong admittedly was serious. Loss of the warships Prince of Wales and Repulse last week in the Gulf of Siam led informed British quarters to declare at that time that the crown colony would be unable to hold out for longer than three weeks.

Japanese heavy artillery in the hills above Kowloon have been bombarding the island fortress without cessation for almost a week.

British authorities admitted last week that the loss of Penang would necessitate new arrangements for shipping of supplies to and from Malaya. Most of this traffic moved through Penang, in addition to 90 per cent of the rubber and tin exported from Malaya to the British empire and the United States.

Penang also gives the Japanese an important springboard for a possible attack on the N. E. I. island of Sumatra.

It was felt that Hongkong would resist to the last but the success of the Japanese was regarded as certain.

Military quarters in London said the Japs have carried out "considerable landings" on the island—apparently under terrific covering artillery and aerial bombardments.

JAP BOMBERS ATTACK BASE

Make Two Thrusts at Vital Manila Area; U. S. Subs Get 2 Enemy Ships.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The war department announced today "there was a marked increase in enemy air and ground activities" in the Philippine area during the past 24 hours. "There was heavy bombing over Manila and over the city of Iloilo on the island of Panay, south of Luzon," the communique added.

(By Associated Press)

MANILA—Two waves of Japanese bombers, flying at 30,000 feet, flew over the vital naval base at Cavite, in Manila bay, in less than two hours today in short, quick thrusts and the first left a giant column of smoke billowing in the sky.

A communique issued by the U. S. far eastern command said no reports of bombing by the second wave of planes had been received.

The far eastern command also announced that "military objectives" in the vicinity of Tarlac province, northwest of Manila on Luzon island, were bombed Thursday afternoon by a small number of Japanese planes.

No American aircraft took to the air when the high-flying planes roared over in hit-and-run tactics. The Japanese maintained an unbroken formation and flew straight over the target.

The afternoon communique said 24 planes were in the first group.

Knox Reveals Third Hawaii Attack Balked Without Hit

(By Associated Press)

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Secretary Knox, asserting that 30 minutes' warning of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor would have made "all the difference in the world," disclosed today that the third and final wave of enemy bombers met such a devastating barrage that it turned away without hitting a single objective.

The navy secretary, speaker at graduation exercises for the naval academy's class of 1942, said Japan's assault on the great Pacific naval base was a "damning account of infamous treachery" such as "was never recorded in the history of the world."

"There is no question at all, in the light of what transpired," he said, "that half an hour's warning of the approach of the Japanese planes would have made all the difference in the world.

"I say this with considerable confidence because that assault was divided into three attacks. The third assault came two hours after the first one. With all of the resources that were left, . . . we were ready, and that attack never got home.

"It encountered, as it approached Pearl Harbor, such a barrage from every gun and every ship that the enemy planes had to

Santa and the WHITE ROSE

MAGIC POWDER SUBDUES THE WITCH

CARL and the King and Santa walked together to the mountain behind the castle. They went to find the cave which had been described by the little miner on the King's pipe.

"Queer. I never heard of a cave out here," said the King.

"I don't see any," said Santa putting on his glasses.

Carl said nothing. Suddenly behind a thick, round hawthorne tree his foot slipped down through the grass. He caught his balance and parted the grasses, and there was the round mouth of a cave.

"Here, give me your hand," said the King. "Let yourself down easily." Carl slipped one foot down slowly until it touched level ground. Then he let go the King's hand, lit a match, and all about his feet lay a fine powder which glistened in the match light. He picked up a pocketful and scrambled out.

"Now to find the witch," he said, and he pointed to an oak tree.

"She's there," whispered Santa. As they watched they saw one bird fall from the tree, then a second and a third.

"Sh, sh," said Carl, "we must hide until it's dark."

When the first star came out, and the moon was bright, Carl said to the King. "She must be sleeping in that high oak. Wait here."

"Be sure you don't look at her," worried Santa.

"NEVER fear," said Carl, and he stepped carefully to the foot of the oak tree. He climbed up, up into the tree until finally he saw the second little witch asleep in a nest the robins had left behind the spring before.

Quietly, Carl got a good toehold in the crotch of a big tree branch Then, although he was dreadfully excited, he resolutely closed his eyes tightly and shouted, and flung the pocketful of white dust over the robin's nest and the witch

She started up choking and sputtering, "Look what you've done," she said angrily.

But Carl was too quick for her. He knew he mustn't open his eyes and look. He just kept his eyes closed and waited.

"You, you—Beggar!" sputtered the witch. Then her voice became only a whimper and she said in the meekest tones, "You are master. Lead me."

Carl opened his eyes at that. He saw the little witch was sitting on the edge of the robin's nest hanging her head and looking very ashamed. Carl put her in his pocket and climbed down the tree. He ran toward Santa and the King shouting, "Look, I have her safely in my pocket."

THE three of them hurried to the castle, chuckling and talking There was great rejoicing when they arrived. The King ordered a big banquet to celebrate the occasion. The King sat at the head of the long table with Carl at his right. And on Carl's right sat the girl in the blue robe. It was Princess Hildur.

Carl caught his breath when he saw the Princess, and he realized that the girl he had admired was the King's daughter. He felt too shy to say anything to her. And Hildur, realizing that this was the tall blond young man who was so brave, was too shy to say anything either.

When Carl left the castle late that evening the King gave him another purse filled with gold coins. But Carl rode away from the castle feeling sad. Santa sat on the horse behind him, and after a long time Carl said to Santa, "Hildur is a princess and more beautiful than any girl I've seen. But I am only a peasant's son. I suppose I shall never see her again."

Santa said, "Each day is different from the one that went before, Carl."

TOMORROW: The magic vine calls Santa again.

SHELBY POLICE GET PAY BOOST

Extra Guard Duty at Power Company Boosts Income For War Period.

SHELBY—A pay raise of $22 per month was approved for the six regular patrolmen on the Shelby police force by city council Wednesday night.

The raise will only be good for the period of war emergency when patrolmen will have to stand guard one shift every day at the Municipal Electric Co. here.

One patrolman will be stationed at the Electric Co. from 8 a. m to 4 p. m. every day and two special guards have been assigned to the plant to fill in the remaining part of the 24-hour shift.

The council authorized Mayor W. R Morris to purchase new uniforms for the special guards at the Electric company.

An ordinance withdrawing bonds for councilmen, regular firemen, park commissioner and park board members was approved. None of these men hold any funds, city officials pointed out, so that bonds are not needed.

Mayor Morris was authorized to lease land from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company for storage space for the city's coal.

Four councilmen that will be installed at the first meeting of the new council were present to witness the procedure. They were James Herlihy, First ward; Noel Smith, Third ward; David Kinsell, Fourth ward; and Wilbur Workman, councilman-at-large.

This was the last meeting for the retiring councilmen, Kenneth Roethlisberger, John Chew, Charles Swanger and Charles Dye.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1941.

Shop in the morning, if possible—in the afternoon, if necessary—in the evening, if unavoidable.

Now is a time that it should be permissible to sing "God Bless America" without consent of the copyright owners.

The current issue of a popular weekly magazine, printed a couple of weeks in advance of distribution, has a convincing article on the invulnerability of Pearl Harbor—which will make interesting reading for those who think "it can't happen here."

Censorship Necessary In Wartime

CENSORSHIP of reports of some happenings ordinarily regarded as "news" is unavoidable in a nation at war and the people of America must again become accustomed to governmental restrictions on news that might be detrimental to the Allies or helpful to enemy nations.

This should not mean that good news will be quickly heralded and bad news withheld, nor should it mean that the American public is not to be kept fully informed on the progress of the war.

It should mean, however, that secrecy will be maintained as to troop and ship movements, quantity of production and distribution of war equipment and supplies, and all other matters of possible value to the enemy in a military way.

President Roosevelt's appointment of Byron Price, executive news editor of the Associated Press, as co-ordinator of all government censorship activities, will have the effect of inspiring confidence of newspapers in the soundness and dependability of news-sifting processes soon to take effect.

Mr. Price combines personal war experience with broad understanding of the functions of American newspapers and it may be doubted if a better selection could have been made for the job.

Whatever their differences may be, in smaller matters, it may be safely assumed that a high percentage of American newspapers will stand as a unit in withholding, on their own initiative, any information recognized as having military value to enemy spies, and will also co-operate fully in following censorship suggestions and instructions from Washington—as was done in the days of well-remembered World war I.

Much Buying and Mailing

MANSFIELD stores have reflected the holiday buying rush this week and this city promises to do its share in placing the year's Christmas trade well above the 1940 figure, as predicted by the federal department of commerce.

Despite other calls for contributions, purchase of defense stamps and bonds, reservations for taxes, and higher prices of some commodities, there is still a surprising volume of money flowing through the regular course of gift-buying and meeting personal and family needs.

Trend toward earlier shopping and earlier mailing has also been noted and while extensive buying is in prospect for the week-end and during next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, more people than usual are in the enviable position of having completed their Christmas purchases.

Most of the gift packages intended for faraway, or nearer, relatives and friends are already on their way, and greeting cards and letters sometimes withheld until the day before Christmas are in the mail by the thousands.

Even at the best, a final pile-up of holiday mail cannot be avoided, with overworked postoffice employes and carriers attempting to maintain prompt service. The public can be of help by winding up their holiday mailing over the week-end—and not later than Monday for local and vicinity deliveries.

Mansfield Must Be 'On the Alert'

WHILE absence of one councilman prevented passage of emergency defense legislation at Wednesday evening's special meeting it may be assumed that the agreement reached by other members will result in whatever immediate action is necessary and that parliamentary formalities will be taken care of at a future meeting.

Potential dangers to which the attention of council has been directed may seem rather remote at the moment, but the precautionary measures that have been advised give the impression of being proper steps in the civilian defense program.

It is not safe to adopt the attitude that this city and county, because there are no Japanese here, are immune to acts of sabotage or entirely free of so-called fifth columnists or enemy agents.

Guarding vital community services and making ready to meet whatever conditions may develop is no more than the reasonable caution incumbent on all cities.

Tribal Logic Still Exists

THERE has been a strange notion loose in the world that acts regarded as wicked for individuals were not wicked for nations. The people, acting together or through a majority, were assumed to be above law and morality.

Logically this never did make sense. Maybe it is a survival of tribal logic and tribal gods. Anyway, in recent years it has made less sense than ever, as we saw "strong" governments proudly or defiantly committing the most hideous crimes under the cloak of national mass-immunity.

Surely the voice of a people is not necessarily the voice of God. Surely wickedness is not purified by a majority vote. Surely evil action grows worse, not better, as it gains adherents. Surely there is such a thing as national guilt, where a nation commits or upholds evil.

Yet the Japanese militarists right now are probably taking their aggressive and murderous deeds as acts of righteousness. There is need for a world-morality rising above such primitive tribal thinking.

Experts employed by the Salt Lake City board of commissioners to suggest improvement in municipal government advised abolishing the board of commissioners—which savors strongly of biting the hand that fed them.

Nothing has occurred to date to indicate that Hitler has changed his ideas about the Japs, as expressed in "Mein Kampf"—but he could scarcely expect such help from human beings.

Robert Quillen puts it thus: "Nobody voted for the flu in 1918, but it attacked us anyway, and killed more people than the war did."

It is also being noted that it was NOT Wendell Willkie who had to change his position when the blow fell.

"MY KINGDOM FOR A HORSE"

Young Compares Jail Conditions

—By JAMES R. YOUNG

(Editor's Note: Jimmy Young, INS correspondent in Japan for 13 years, spent 61 days in a Japanese jail as their "national guest," as they explained to him his solitary confinement. Today he reports on his visit to Ellis Island to oversee the welfare of Uncle Sam's "national guests," the Mr. Motos and the Mr. Watanabes of Nippon.)

(Written Expressly for International News Service)

I VISITED Ellis island today and found a happy Utopian group of 273 Japanese men, the wealthiest and best organized crowd of yellow Aryan aliens ever held as national guests of Uncle Sam.

Two large rooms, with rows of college dormitory double decked beds, echo with radios, talk, laughter and cheers from winners in bridge, gin rummy or chess, the favorites. Calisthenic classes are conducted twice daily by jiujitsu experts. Postcards may be sent freely, but writing must be done in block letters. Prisoners in Japanese jails cannot write. Oranges and apples are popular, bought from their own canteen.

Meals are free. I was charged $2.50 a day while in a Japanese jail. Radios are popular. Possession of a radio in Japan is a criminal offense. The Japs at Ellis have two, bought with their own funds. Guards estimated the internees had around $125,000 in cash and negotiable paper, notwithstanding a presidential freezing order of alien funds last July. One prisoner had over $5,000 in his pockets when police picked him up.

The FBI men, the Japanese were heard to say, are very kind and intelligent. They were thinking perhaps how lucky they were, that in their native land, some 1,270 Americans, British, Canadians and Australians today are in the hands of vicious, arrogant and stupid Japanese gestapo agents.

NEWSPAPERS and magazines are plentiful. Tobacco too. But none of these for Americans held in Japan. Luxury baggage, the guards commented, is the rule. Poor clothes the exception.

I asked the guards if the Japanese bend at 5:30 every morning to the White House, I received a volley of laughter.

This morning in Japan, the Americans who did so much to help the Japanese build factories, obtain oil supplies and negotiate commercial deals, were roused at 5:30 in their stocking feet—shoes are not permitted in Jap prisons—and made to bow from a cold, damp, bare cell, in the direction of the Imperial palace.

Meals here are at 8, noon and 5. Over there, 6:30, 11 and 4. Lights go out at 10 on the island but in Japan, aliens are forced to sleep with lights turned on their faces.

I HEARD no screaming, no yells, no violent epithets being hurled by arrogant guards. Contrariwise, the Japanese were roaming about, talking, mumbling, buying toilet articles and candy, reading papers and magazines and listening to radio broadcasts. Papers are more popular since it is easier for them to read than to listen to a foreign language. A group was discussing the purchase of a phonograph and records.

Two American Christian social workers were dashing about seeking to make the internees happy and comfortable. A Japanese missionary who today atempted to aid a Y. M. C. A. or Salvation army man would be jailed too. No Japanese would dare send a message, a magazine or an apple. He would be seized, flogged, slapped, and his family isolated.

Clean sheets, pillows and warm blankets. Steam heat. To relieve overcrowding, the sun porch of the Ellis island building is being glassed. I saw new radiators—worth their weight in platinum in Japan where even a metal doorknob is worth big money. And hot water, soap, towels and toilet paper. I had no bath for six weeks. I sat on the floor, as do my fellow Americans in Japan today.

AS I left Ellis island I contemplated on the dastardly and vicious brutality of Japanese police used on my old friend and associate, James Cox, of Reuters who was picked up outside the detention room dead, with 22 camphor injections in his body.

And what of the dozen American missionaries and a child seized by Japanese police and held incommunicado in a barn as retaliation for the presidential freezing order. What of the Jesuits seized in September and since reported executed for having given medical aid to suffering Chinese. Will the Maryknoll Fathers receive proper nourishment in their seaside jail in Yokohama?

As the United States approaches Japan, hysteria there will increase and aliens will become endangered. No Jap alien should be permitted freedom in this country until we have accounted for every American, and unless we are positive he has suffered none of the violence so familiar with Japanese prisons and detention rooms.

I volunteer by services for Ellis island for one week while the guards take a Christmas vacation.

I'd like to see 'em bow to the White House at 5:30 a. m.

Don't Cheat Yourself!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SILLIEST sight on earth, somebody cheating at solitaire. Ever see one of them at it? Sure you have.

Time after time he'll lay out the cards . . . watch each deal come slick as a whistle. Each time his grin grows wider . . . more triumphant.

But presently, just as he's on the verge of victory, something happens. A card goes wrong. Just one stupid card. One li'l measley card, holding up the whole game!

Exasperating! If only it had turned up before or after everything would have been jake. But, as it is, the thing's a mess! Maddening! And it could be fixed so easily. Just slip that one card into a different position in the deck. One simple motion. Who would know? Just move one stupid card . . .

As plain as though it moved across a silver screen, you see his thought. Watch it slip, peering, scuttling, like a cornered rat. Feel it change slowly from a question to an act. See the temptation shift from out his furtive eyes down to his fingertips.

Then, with a motion quick as light, the thing is done! The card has changed its place! With the next deal, the sequence will come right! He grins, relaxes, slides one final glance around. Then sits back with a cocky smile as though he'd licked the world. He's won!

Or has he?

No, of course he hasn't!

He's simply cheated his own self at solitaire!

THE FOOL!

You sneer. You smile, in condescending pity, at his shoddy trick. You think, "What can that cockeyed moron hope to gain by such a move? Thank Heaven, I don't short-change my own self."

BUT ARE YOU SURE YOU DON'T?

Remember that excuse you made today for your own blunder? It's true, you didn't utter that excuse aloud. You made it in the privacy of your own thoughts. You brushed aside your anger and remorse . . . cooled your embarrassment with clever words.

BUT DIDN'T YOU, AS SURELY, "CHEAT AT SOLITAIRE?"

And how about those alibis you've made for years, those alibis with which you soothed your conscience qualms away? The temper that you've blamed upon your father's clan? The moods you've checked against your mother's blood? The lapses that you blame on Uncle Sam . . . or God? The endless weaknesses you won't admit . . . but brush away.

Lie upon lie. You think you're getting by . . .

BUT AREN'T YOU CHEATING YOUR OWN SELF AT SOLITAIRE?

AND WHAT—

AND WHERE—

DOES IT ALL GET YOU, GUY?

Lewis Dominates CIO Delegation To Industrial Peace Conference

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—CIO President Phil Murray was chief author of the labor-management conference called by President Roosevelt to formulate a voluntary system for industrial peace during the war.

Murray proposed the voluntary plan as a substitute for the drastic Smith anti-strike bill. Until the house, inflamed by John L. Lewis' captive mine strike, passed this measure, Murray had not been very active in promoting labor peace. In fact, he irately quit the National Defense Mediation Board because it vetoed Lewis' demands for a closed shop in the captive coal mines.

But Roosevelt, anxious for maximum national unity and opposed to the principle of restrictive labor laws, decided to give Murray's conference proposal a chance. So at the president's private behest, the senate labor committee agreed to hold up action on the drastic Smith bill until the conference had a chance to see what it could produce.

The president invited management, the AFL and CIO to pick their top men for the conference.

The employers selected are among the outstanding leaders of industry. The delegation named by William Green consists of the ablest and most influential chiefs of the AFL. Like the employer group, they represent the key defense industries covered by the AFL.

But the delegation named by Murray is another story. Not only is it dominated by John L. Lewis, but it omits a number of the ablest leaders in the CIO. Furthermore, it lacks representatives from several key defense industries.

Of the six CIO conferees named by Murray, five are strong Lewis supporters. The exception is Emil Rieve, independent head of the Textile Workers. Of the five Lewisites, two are leftwingers who were violently opposed to the defense and foreign policy programs until Hitler invaded Russia. One of them, Julius Emspak, is not even head of his union. He is merely secretary-treasurer of the Electrical and Radio Workers.

Carefully omitted by Murray from the delegation was John Green, able president of the Shipbuilding Workers. Green represents a key defense industry, but he is independent, is not tied to Lewis's apron strings. Also omitted was Clint Golden, acting head of the Steel Workers, another vital defense industry. Golden also is no Lewisite.

There are other able CIO chiefs that Murray could—and should—have named to the delegation. But if he had, the delegation would have been independent and not under the thumb of John L. Lewis, the man who in November 1940 announced to the world he would retire from leadership of the CIO if Roosevelt was re-elected.

Two days before the conference opened, Murray, nominally chairman of the CIO group, held a lengthy private pow-wow with Lewis on plans and tactics. Apparently John L. is still the real leader.

Note: Murray's naming of a Lewisite delegation had a lot to do with the president's choice of Mediation Board Chairman William Davis as moderator of the conference. Plain-talking and tough, Davis has taken no guff from Lewis and is bitterly disliked by him.

"Unhappy" Chandler.

IMMEDIATELY after he had cast his vote for war, Senator A. B. "Happy" Chandler of Kentucky dodged out to a phone in the cloak room and asked both the war department and the White House to call him to duty with the forces.

Later he was talking with 84-year-old Carter Glass about it, and Glass muttered, "He won't let you, just like that fellow Wilson wouldn't let me."

Glass worships the memory of Wilson, but his ire still rises when he remembers how Wilson refused to let him go to war in 1917.

Note: Truth is, the army doesn't want any congressional officers, wouldn't welcome the odd situations arising from a colonel trying to give orders to a captain who was at the same time a senator.

Uncensored.

FINDING out just what the army and navy consider military secrets is tough on the average newsman these days. For instance, the army permitted its Frankford Arsenal to publish an article in the American Machinist on "How to Machine 75 mm. Shells." It was written by the chief engineer of the Artillery Ammunition Division with full diagrams, and should give any enemy agent a pretty good idea on the type of U. S. artillery ammunition—all for the price of the magazine—35 cents. . . . Cuban President Batista was bitterly disappointed that Costa Rica beat Cuba in declaring war against Japan.

Rivalry between the army and navy is traditional and a healthy thing to spur competition. But probably never before has there been so much undercover jockeying as to who was to blame for Pearl Harbor. . . . Vice President Wallace's penchant for post-season tennis is causing embarrassment to his hotel. The hotel's courts are closed, but on Wallace's promise to keep them in condition, he is allowed to have his daily morning game wih his sister, the wife of the Swiss minister. Other guests, not aware of this arrangement, think there is discrimination and squawk to the management.

U. S. Asiatic Commander.

ONE REASON for the superb job by U. S. forces in defending the Philippines is the manner in which Admiral Hart and General MacArthur have pulled together.

The army and navy do not always make a perfect team, and there is some question regarding teamwork at Pearl Harbor. However, Admiral "Tommy" Hart has a long record for working things out with the army, dating back to the days when he was superintendent of the naval academy during the Hoover administration. At that time West Point and Annapolis had engaged in a long and bitter squabble over eligibility rules so that the Army-Navy football games were suspended. It was Hart who handled the navy's negotiations in 1931 by which those games were resumed.

Also he was a friend and shipmate of General MacArthur's brother, the late Arthur MacArthur, on the battleship Massachusetts during the Spanish-American war. So the two men have dovetailed their work. The fleet is out on the prowl for Jap ships instead of taking punishment in Cavite Harbor; and MacArthur's land and air troops are concentrating on the defense of the Philippines.

Hart was graduated from Annapolis 13th in the unique class of 1897. It contained such men as Admiral Leahy; Admiral Hepburn, former commander of the U. S. Fleet; Admiral Yarnell, former commander of the Asiatic fleet. For the past five years the class of '97 has monopolized the command of the Asiatic Fleet. Admiral Hart's wife is the daughter of Admiral Willard Bronson, another ex-commander of the Asiatic squadron.

Hart is a hard-boiled advocate of discipline, doesn't believe in kicking the Filipino brown brother around, and has the tough job of preventing the southern advance of the Japanese fleet to Singapore with a U. S. fleet considerably smaller than the enemy's.

NEW YORK—East Side, West Side . . . all around the town. . . .

That was too bad about Dai Vernon, the magician. . . . He fell off a wharf into the river. . . . On the way down he hit a tug, and broke both arms. . . . This is liable to hold Dai back a spell . . . He's a finger man. . . . He works with his hands . . . card tricks, Turkish rings, disappearing coins, thimbles, cards. . . . The success of these tricks depends on nimbleness, confidence, and a quick running wit. . . . Dai had these. . . . He will have to guard those arms carefully to get back in shape.

I was glad to see Joe Besser get a break in the Sons O' Fun reviews. . . . He's a work horse, one of the best comics around. . . . He takes some of the pressure off Olsen and Johnson, and by his zanny behavior won a place in the town's heart. . . . Off stage he's one of the friendliest, nicest guys I know; on stage, he's one of the funniest.

ART HODES, it may confidently be said, not only works at the Pepper Pot, a Greenwich Village nightclub, he IS the Pepper Pot. He plays piano. He conducts the orchestra. He got that way by haunting boogie-woogie joints in river towns and wherever Negro musicians maneuvered the wild and unrecorded two-handed rhythms of the back-to-Bach-via-swing movement. He teaches boogie woogie too. Among his students is a Columbia University professor.

AS General Custer on the screen Errol Flynn dies with his boots on, but as plain Citizen Flynn, just vacationing in New York, he almost died with them off. Of cold, I mean. It happened this way. He went up to Central Park to be inducted into a tribe of Indians, and in this way the movie hero became a blood-brother of good old Butch, our fire-chasing mayor.

But during the ceremony Errol had to remove part of his clothing. He got his pants back, and his coat, and his hat. But his shoes never did show up. They simply "disappeared." The temperature, when this happened, was one degree above freezing.

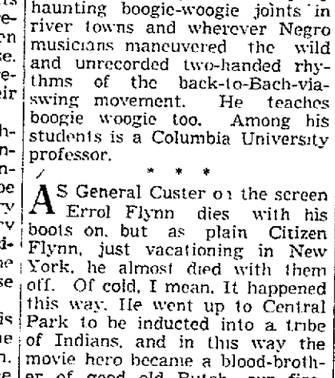
LIFE'S LIKE THAT



"Whom do I see about alterations?"

A Farmer's Diary

Our House

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I OFTEN marvel as I pass our cottage on the gravel highway, at how very low and small it seems. The little patch of lattice painted white, as high as the eaves on either side, makes the front appear somewhat wider. But the low-pitched metal roof seems to press it down even closer to the earth.

The porch in front is narrow and supported on four roughly sawed, double two-by-fours, with a heavy plank floor. Some of these planks are bowed up by sun and rain while others have warped downward. It is not a monotonously even floor, but when I am wide awake and can watch my step I find it more interesting for its irregularities.

Yet I know that if someone else should pass that way—or look down upon this cottage from the road, he might very naturally feel, "Well—certainly I would never build a house like that!"

It has a chimney built upon a solid concrete base, low in the cellar where a strong wide hearth may warm the rooms and draw the fragrant, keen blue smoke beyond the roof. At the south and east, next year's hollyhocks are soft and green, ten inches high. Just beyond where lawn and garden meet, are low bent stems that shield from northern blasts the golden bloom of dandelions. Tender chickweed lays very close to the dark rich soil and shows its dainty sprays of flowering heads.

At the western side, the spring forever flows—a stream of clear, pure water from its secret sandstone cavern beneath the hill. It feeds the lily pond down from the kitchen door. It forms the interesting muskrat swamp beyond, where tall green billowy sweet flag grows.

Outside the small enclosed back porch, so close that its slender branches reach the very door, an apple tree grows strong and vigorous, where chickadees, English sparrows and flaming cardinals meet.

At evening through the narrow rustic windows the oil lamp throws its modest beams across the lawn and north beyond the highway. Within, the noisy shouts of children, the game of marbles, the nightly quarrels, bitter tears, lessons for school next day, the Bible reading and then an hour or two of quiet, when all are well and safe in bed.

Our little house is not like any house I know.

REPORT NAZIS ABANDON FINN ALLIES IN WAR

Helsinki Sources Say Troops Leave; British Capture Derna Airport.

40 miles west of Tobruk, on Wednesday morning.

In Axis counter blows, Premier Mussolini's high command asserted that Italian torpedo planes and German fliers had hit five British cruisers in the Mediterranean—three in attacks on a major naval formation off the coast of eastern Libya.

The German high command said a Nazi U-boat had sunk one of the five—a cruiser of the 7,270-ton Leander class—off the Alexandria, Egypt, naval base.

While Axis fortunes waned in the winter-frozen land of the Soviets and on the sands of North Africa, a new and important blow to the Rome-Berlin aggressors was obliquely dealt by Spain.

Blasting Axis hopes that Spain might now enter the war in the world-wide alignment of the democracies against the dictators, the Spanish government announced that Spain would maintain her position of non-belligerency.

In effect, this means that Spain has rejected pressure for the passage of German troops through Spain for an attack on Gibraltar and a short-cut to seizure of North and West African bases.

Meanwhile, Portugal's position in the conflict awaited clarification as rumors circulated in Lisbon that Britain had twice in recent weeks demanded the Azores from Portugal.

Dispatches from Bern, Switzerland, indicated that newspapers in both Germany and Italy were drumming up propaganda to swing Portugal into the Axis camp, with the Nazi-Fascist press expressing alarm lest the Allied seizure of Portuguese Timor in the South Pacific be followed by anti-Axis occupation of the Azores and Cape Verde islands in the Atlantic.

The Berlin correspondent of the Swiss newspaper, La Suisse, said Germany was anxiously awaiting Portugal's attitude on the Timor move for its bearing on the situation of the Atlantic islands.

On the Russian war front, Soviet dispatches said that the Red armies had reached the approaches of Ruza, 50 miles due west of Moscow, and that "the rate of our offensive is growing noticeable."

The Russian reported heavy blows were being struck at German rearguard communications to disorganize Hitler's already headlong retreat from Moscow.

Trains, trucks and buses were subjected to the pounding and the Soviet information bureau announced the destruction by Red aviation Dec. 17 of about 750 trucks loaded with troops and supplies, and a number of buses, while 10 trains were reported set on fire and upwards of 6,000 men annihilated or dispersed.

Soviet ground forces, furthermore, were said in Moscow to have destroyed 106 German trucks, an ammunition dump and a military supply depot on a single day on the Moscow front.

Altogether, said the Communist party newspaper Pravda, the Russians recaptured 138 more villages on the central front.

The military expert of Hitler's own newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, a Lieut. Col. Soldan, was quoted by a Swiss paper as admitting that the Russian soldiers equalled—and even surpassed in some cases—the Germans. Soldan said Germany had underrated the Russian army, economy and war industries, the Swiss dispatch added.

Spain Announces Non-Belligerency

MADRID — (UP) — Spain announced today that she is a non-belligerent in the Pacific war involving Japan on one side and the United States and Great Britain on the other.

The announcement of the Spanish position followed reports that Spain would declare herself a netural.

Non-belligerency is a term usually taken to mean a pronounced sympathy for one side—in Spain's case, Japan.

Spain is closely associated with the European members of the Axis—Germany and Italy—and is a signer of the anti-comintern pact. She often is classified as a non-belligerent rather than a neutral in the war involving Britain and Germany. She has an unknown number of "volunters" fighting with German forces in Russia.

CHRISTMAS MAIL TRAIN WRECKED

7 Slightly Injured In Crash At Crossing.

LAFAYETTE, Ind — (UP) — A west-bound Big Four train heavily laden with Christmas mail crashed into an automobile that had been wrecked at a crossing at Montmorenci, 15 miles west of here, at 2:45 a. m., today and two day coaches and a pullman and five mail and express cars were derailed.

Six mail and express clerks and one passenger were injured but none was hurt seriously.

Only the locomotive and tender of the train, bound from Cincinnati to Chicago, remained on the tracks. Five of the cars were overturned.

KILLED BY AUTO

HAMILTON — (UP) — Struck by an automobile near here, John F. Baker, 71, of Berea, Ky., died of his injuries.

As Pupils Feted Their Parents

Children of Country Day school entertained 175 parents and guests with a Christmas program and tea yesterday afternoon prior to dismissal today for the holiday vacation. Christmas songs and carols comprised the program and the pupils themselves presided at the serving tables. Shown at the top is a group of vested singers who participated in the program. Pictured left to right are, first row, Katherine Searle, Betsy Kirtley, Natalie Carr; second row, Judy MacLean, Betty Brown and Frances Draffan; third row, Huntington Brown, Susan Stoodt, Ellen Bromfield, Vera Saleste and Sigrid Meisse. Hope Unique Red Cross Gift Will 'Start Ball Rolling' much hot coffee he had to lay aside his trench coat."

Georgopulos said he thought about this incident when Richland chapter of the Red Cross received its quota of $30,000 from national headquarters. He mentioned it to Margaritus, his partner and nephew, and together they planned to see if they could "start the ball rolling" by giving a day's receipts to the emergency war fund.

"The restaurant will take no part in the day's receipts," Georgopulos said. All supplies will be furnished by the management and the help will be paid by the partners although Georgopulos stated the employes had volunteered to give their services.

The Red Cross will be asked to furnish its own cashiers from 5 a. m. Monday, Dec. 29, to 5 a. m. the following day. "The management wants no part in handling the receipts for the 24-hour period," Georgopulos said.

"We're going to put a change box near the cash register, so that people can give the change from their check if they desire to do so."

Georgopulos and his nephew came to this country from their native Greece before they were 20, but for the senior partner the trip was a greater undertaking than it was for his nephew who came here 11 years later. Georgopulos was 16. He could not speak English, he travelled alone and he had no friends or relatives to meet him.

These obstacles were met and overcome. The Greek lad went to Chicago. He sold fruit and vegetables and managed to get along until he gained a foothold in that city.

From Chicago he went to Columbus where he got his first job in a restaurant. He learned the business from the bottom up and later went to Lima and started a restaurant himself. In 1916 he came to Mansfield and is now rounding out 32 years in the business of feeding the public as a partner in the Parkway.

Margaritus joined his uncle's family in 1910 when he was 14. He came to Mansfield from Lima in 1921.

Georgopulos is now "up to his ears" in emergency work as president of Goodwill chapter, the local branch of the Order of Ahepa, Greek organization. He has been instructed to sell special bonds to native Greek residents in this area. After the war the American government will be asked to convert these bonds into supplies to be used towards the rehabilitation of Greece, Georgopulos said.

Meanwhile today the war emergency fund drive had brought in cash contributions of $7,000, according to W. J. Spreng, chairman of the fund-raising and public information committee.

This total included a $500 contribution by the Ohio Brass company civic fund; $200 contributions by both Sun-Glow Manufacturing company and Martin Steel Products company, and $100 contributions by the Ideal Electric and Manufacturing company, Superior Brass company, National Masonic Provident company and Richland Mutual Insurance company.

Name 'Key Men' to Urge 'All-Out' Food Production Here

ment repair lists to farmers who will be asked to mark their farm implements which need repairs or will be likely to need them during next year.

Farmers then must assume the responsibility of purchasing the repair parts and putting their equipment in shape for spring work, County Agent George B. Ganyard said. He is a member of the defense board. Members of the board emphasized the importance of buying parts and equipment now to avoid the defense prioroities that are sure to come.

Among the "key men" are farmers and vocational agriculture instructors in centralized high schools. They are:

Nearly 50 Grange and Farm Bureau heads, vocational teachers, implement dealers and manufacturers, and repair men attended yesterday's meeting at the Triple A office. The session was in charge of Guy L. Taylor, county defense board chairman, and R. D. Barden, agriculture engineering specialist at Ohio State university.

Richland county farmers, along with those throughout the middle west, have been asked to join in all-out production of milk, meat, and eggs in 1942 to provide food for democracies at war.

BLAST KILLS 7

INTERLAKEN, Switzerland — (U.P.) — Five men and two women were killed, six persons injured last night in the explosion of a powder press at a fireworks building at Obereid on the shore of Lake Brienz, a dispatch said today. The cause of the explosion was not known.

JAP CAPTURE OF HONGKONG SEEN CLOSE AT HAND

Garrison Makes Desperate Stand as Enemy Lands Troops on Island.

But they indicated that heavy fighting is in progress.

While admitting the position is "serious," they were confident the small garrison of gallant defenders would bitterly contest every inch of ground the Japanese gain.

Observers expressed belief that Hongkong is virtually in Japanese hands.

The colonial office announced that not the slightest credence should be attached to a report that Sir Mark Young, governor-general and military commander-in-chief of Hongkong, had left the colony.

"We have been in telegraphic communication with him this morning, a spokesman said.

"He is not only governor but commander-in-chief, and thus is unlikely to quit."

British military authorities indicated the Japanese forces attacking the crown colony are overwhelmingly superior to the defenders in numerical strength.

In view of this, they said, "eventual fall of the fortress must now be contemplated as a distinct possibility."

Authorities said supreme efforts are being made to hold Malaya, even at the expense of other fronts, to prevent the possibility of a direct Japanese assault on Singapore.

They said that while the Japanese now are scarcely more than 300 miles from Singapore, they are approaching territory through which good motor roads run to the south. But they declared supreme efforts are being made to hold Malaya—"even if it means this is done at the temporary expense of some other fronts."

Japs Say Hongkong Resistance Failing

TOKYO, (Official radio recorded by AP)—Domei broadcast Japanese reports today which declared that British resistance in Hongkong was collapsing and that capture of the Crown colony, which they described as already half-conquered, was only a matter of hours.

The Domei broadcast declared that Japanese forces which gained a foothold on Hongkong Island under cover of darkness last night had kept up a driving offensive with aerial and artillery protection.

Jardine's Hill, an observation post rising 1,420 feet in the center of the 32-square-mile island, was captured in two and a half hours of fighting, the news agency said, and "Japanese guns and planes are furiously battering the enemy."

Chinese Destroy Part of Railway

NEW YORK—(INS)—Chinese forces have "torn up a large section of line" near the southern end of the Canton-Kowloon railway near Hongkong, the British radio reported today in a broadcast heard by CBS.

The Chinese assault on the Japanese attackers of Hongkong from the rear has not yet developed into a full scale offensive.

and facilities are not of a type that will lend themselves to exacting government orders.

However, Wolfe did say that there was some hope of resuming at least partial production by Jan. 1.

"We are devoting all our time to experimenting with the use of substitutes such as scrap and reclaimed rubber which the government does not as yet want," he said.

"By Jan. 1 we will know if it is possible to use these types of rubber for our needs or not."

Last year the Perfect company used 104 tons of rubber and so far this year approximately 83 tons.

The company was established in 1919.

EXPECT ALLIES TO MAP PLANS

Meeting In Washington For Coordinated Effort Seen Likely In January.

Axis nations, it was learned, will thoroughly explore major questions of policy involving co-ordination of their military, economic, and political strength to provide the most powerful striking power against the Axis in whatever war theater it would be most effective.

Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet's newly arrived ambassador, hinted at the general strategy of the anti-Navis powers when he declared that around the world there were now "separate sectors of one great battlefield."

While the world-wide scale of Axis aggression will make it necessary for the conference to consider world-wide strategy it is expected that—in view of the immediate threat from Japanese attacks in the Pacific—the Oriental theater of war will play a major role in the deliberations.

The Soviet — not at war with Japan—has not engaged in any fighting in the Pacific sector, but Litvinoff made the Soviet Union's position clear when he described Japan as the "common enemy" belonging to "the same bunch of Axis gangsters."

At the forthcoming conference, it was forecast, the anti-Axis powers may reach a decision as to whether the Soviet should assume an active fighting role in the Pacific, or concentrate on its increasingly successful efforts to smash Hitler's war machine on the eastern front.

Among other major questions which informed sources said would come before the conference are:

Advisability of setting up a unified war council to chart the continuous and world-wide strategy required to meet changes in the general situation resulting from day-to-day developments.

Co-ordination of all economic affairs so as to insure the maximum production of all war weapons and supplies and their distribution to sectors where they are most urgently needed.

Collaboration in preventing the Axis from securing air or naval bases in Portugal or France and their possessions, or other neutral areas not yet embroiled in the war.

Bulwarking of Turkey and other neutral nations.

Returns From Talks At Martinique

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Admiral Frederick J. Horne, U. S. N., was reported en route home today from a diplomatic mission to the French-owned island of Martinique following disclosure by state department sources that the United States and the Martinique government apparently had reached a satisfactory naval agreement.

Admiral Horne went to Martinique, department sources said, to discuss naval arrangements with Admiral Georges Robert, Vichy high commissioner of the French Antilles.

said she had made a statement in which she contended she was engaged in counter-espionage work.

She was charged with having "acted, engaged to act and agreed to act as agent and representative for, and receive compensation from and was under the direction of, the government of the German Reich."

Agents of foreign governments are required by the foreign agents registration act to file a statement under oath with the secretary of state.

Miss Ingalls turned from vaudeville dancing to flying and gained her first experience in the new field in 1934 when she completed a 16,000-mile flight from Miami, Fla., to South America.

On March 10, 1935, she was awarded the Harmon trophy, the top honor for women fliers.

sheer off, and not a single torpedo hit its mark or did the slightest damage to our ships or to our equipment ashore."

On the other hand, he told the midshipmen, "we ought to have been on our guard against treachery. If we had studied Japan's record in the war with Russia when, in a similar manner, they descended upon the Russian fleet at a moment when those two nations were still at peace and destroyed that fleet without warning—if we had studied that and remembered that, we would not have been surprised."

But the attack did serve a useful purpose, he continued, because it drove home "with frightful force upon the minds of our military leaders the importance of guarding against surprise, the importance of never underestimating the boldness and resourcefulness of the enemy; and upon the civilian population, it drove home with a sense of horror the treachery of the foe we have to defeat.

"This gave us what we must have and now do have—a completely united country for the prosecution of a war to a successful conclusion. So out of this affair of treachery, ultimate good comes."

DATA NEEDED

Defense Council Seeks Information on Ohio Trucks and Buses.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Courtney Burton, executive director of the state defense council, said today it was "very important" for owners of trucks and buses in Ohio to notify the state bureau of motor vehicles of the number and type of heavy-duty vehicles they own.

Truck and bus operators in the state were mailed questionnaires recently as part of a federal government inventory of available mobile equipment for use in an emergency.

MARINE CORPS TO HELP WITH ENLISTMENTS

Richland Detachment To Aid Volunteer Recruiting In Mansfield Area.

Supplementing work of regular Marine recruiting officers, members of the Richland detachment of the Marine corps league today announced the establishment of volunteer Marine recruiting services in Mansfield, Shelby, Ashland and Willard.

J. M. Buchanan, president of the Richland detachment, said the recruiting bases were established in answer to a request from Col. R. A. Montague, of the Washington headquarters of the Marine corps.

Col. Montague, Buchanan said, had made the request so that men active in the service could be released from recruiting work to serve with regular "line" units.

First step in the volunteer recruiting system will be a meeting slated for 7:30 p. m., Dec. 30, in the Mansfield Soldiers' Memorial building at which former Marines from Ashland, Galion, Bucyrus, Crestline, Willard, Shelby and Loudonville will join Mansfielders in working out a complete program.

Youths interested in enlisting as a result of the work of these groups will be interviewed by Buchanan and Henry Brinkman in Mansfield, S. E. Lutz in Willard, C. C. Payne and Ralph Johnson in Shelby and Thomas C. Crabbe in Ashland.

These men will interview applicants to supply information for enlistment papers and complete all forms necessary prior to a medical examination given by traveling recruiting sergeants.

In event that applicants are rushed to take medical examinations, Buchanan said that emergency medical exams would be given by W. G. Cox, Mansfield navy recruiting officer.

Also announced by the Marine league today was a contribution to the "Smokes for Yanks" campaign. The league is urging all former Marines to join Mansfield civilian defense committees headed by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch.

JUMP SAFELY

OMAHA, Neb.—(U.P.)—Harold Rady, 29, has his own method of rescuing children from the roof of a burning house. Hearing cries nearby, Rady rushed to a smoke-filled house to see Esther, 14; Edwin and Etta, both 7, of the Proplesch family, on the roof of a front porch.

"Jump," Rady advised, and he caught each of them safely.

TELLS OF SOIL, WATER PROGRAM

Bromfield Speaks at Mansfield Legion Meeting.

Earl McVey post of the American Legion heard Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield speak Wednesday night on the development of the soil and water conservation program that has made his Malabar farm a model farm in this part of the country.

He touched upon the conservation situation as it exists in Ohio stating that the land would be arid and untillable in the next 50 years unless a broad conservation program was adopted.

Bromfield was introduced by Sam V. Fox, post commander, who presided over a business session preceding the program.

CONGREGATIONAL PARTY.

An "after-supper party" will be held Sunday at the First Congregational church beginning at 5:30 o'clock. The program will last for approximately one hour and will be followed with a Santa Claus party in the Sunday school room at 6:30 o'clock. There will be a "treat" for everyone.

Rainbow Girls Plan Dance For Jan. 3

With Miss Marilee Sword, worthy advisor, in charge, the regular meeting of the Mansfield assembly Order of the Rainbow for Girls was held recently in the Knights of Pythias hall. Plans were made for a semi-formal dance to be held at the Grotto hall on Jan. 3 from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. for Rainbow Girls and De Molay boys. Miss Katherine Lannerd is general chairman for the dance.

On Saturday evening, Dec. 20, the two organizations will hold a "can dance" at the Grotto hall. Contributions will be used to furnish Christmas baskets for needy families. The assembly also will sponsor a rummage sale on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 22 and 23. Miss Doris Plotts and her committee will be in charge.

A Christmas "grab bag" was enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening. Next regular meeting will be held on Jan. 7. Officers will be elected at that time.

Sunday School Class Meeting

Miss Ila Mae Smith and Miss Rhea Downs were hostesses for the meeting of the Do-Be-There Sunday school class of the Ontario Community church held recently at the church. Devotions were led by Miss Jean Milligan. The third chapter of the study book, "Author of Liberty," was reviewed by Miss Dorothy Shrader.

P.T.A. Council Hears Speech By Dr. Swoyer

"What the Church Means In the Life of Youth," was the topic discussed by Rev. Grover Swoyer when the Mansfield P. T. A. Council met recently in the John Simpson junior high school. He stated that youth today turns to this spiritual institution for guidance.

"The church to our youth means everything—freedom of education in religion, in the state and freedom of America," said Dr. Swoyer. He added that "It is healthy to go to church. We need God to balance our lives." He pointed out that if the churches were taken out of Mansfield there would be an increased number of neurotics.

In discussing what the church means in the life of youth, Rev. Swoyer said that it must help young married people with their domestic problems and it must build up morality as well as strengthen character. In conclusion, Dr. Swoyer stated that if everyone were trained in all the "foundation things," there would be a feeling of unity and love. Love fulfills all."

Mrs. C. J. Kalstein, program chairman for the evening, introduced the speaker. Mrs. R. E. Buhr, council president, had charge of the business session which was called to order with the Pledge of Allegiance. Announcement was made by Mrs. C. A. McClure, membership chairman, that the total number of members in the P. T. A. is 3,288—a gain of 633 over the membership for last year. Report also was given by Mrs. R. E. Moore on activities of the student aid group. Mrs. I. W. Basinger, Founders' day chairman, announced that the date for a city-wide "Family Night" service at the First Lutheran church will be Feb. 8. An interesting program is being arranged in recognition of the founders of P. T. A. Mrs. Milo Hieber asked all council delegates to announce that an urgent plea has been received from the Red Cross for volunteers at the production center.

Christmas Party Held In Church Parlors Thursday

Fireplaces in the parlors of St. Paul's Lutheran church were decorated with pine and red and white tapers for the Christmas party held last evening by St. Paul's Thursday Nighters. Contests and games were enjoyed with prizes being won by Mrs. J. Woodrow Seitz, Halsey Hipp and Mrs. H. L. Gilbert.

Each person brought a child's gift for the church nursery. Mrs. Joseph Morganstern was appointed to serve on the committee for the congregational meeting which will be held in January. Refreshments were served by the committee which was comprised of the Misses Olga Luich, Louise Aungst, Ruby Bollman and Fred Miller, jr. Each person received a Christmas favor and was served buffet style from a table centered with greenery, miniature Christmas trees and lighted red and white tapers.

Next meeting will be held Jan. 15 in the church parlors. There will be a covered-dish supper at 6:30 p. m. Arrangements will be made by Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. William Wappner.

MEMBERS of Ohio State university's student body of 12,000 will be returning to their homes today and tomorrow for the Christmas holidays. Students from Mansfield who are enrolled at Ohio State this year and are returning to the city for the vacation include: William W. Ackerman, Dana W. Allen, Robert C. Amsbaugh, George M. MANY PARENTS ATTEND PROGRAM

Brinkerhoff P. T. A. Christmas Entertainment By School Children Draws Large Crowd; 233 Witness Numbers.

NUMBER of parents in attendance for the Christmas program of the Brinkerhoff P. T. A. at the school last evening was so large that the auditorium was filled to capacity with 233 persons and several members and friends were unable to get into the room. Hospitality committee was comprised of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Butterfield, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reese and Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Elder.

Opening number on the program was a Christmas pantomime, "The Toy-Shop Window," given by first and second grade pupils of the Misses Brollier and Helen Bunn. "The Children of the Christmas Tree" was a singing game presented by first grade pupils of Miss Vera Symth. Children taught by Miss Dorothy Crawford danced to "Jingle Bells," after which a choir composed of fourth, fifth and sixth grade boys and girls and directed by Miss Smith, sang "The First Noel," "Holy Night," "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day," "Joy to the World," and "O Come All Ye Faithful." Violin accompaniment was furnished by Edwin Cook and Richard Elliott.

Sally Rusk entertained with an accordion solo, "A Christmas Melody." "Santa and Sons" was the name of a play given by fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils. Mistress of ceremonies for the program was Nancy Osbun.

Demonstration of the sound movie projector which the school is buying was given by Mr. Moyer of the Bell and Howell company following the program. "Bring the World to the Classroom" was the title of the film presented by Mr. Moyer, who was introduced by Ralph Stanton. Because of the length of the program, the P. T. A. members dispensed with the business meeting.

CROCHETED AFGHAN PATTERN 412

This useful afghan crocheted in one piece makes an attractive decoration for any home. A shaded effect is obtained by using three shades of a color. Or make each stripe different using odd balls of yarn. Pattern 412 contains directions for afghan; illustrations of it and stitches; materials required; color schemes.

Send ten cents in coin for this pattern to The Mansfield News-Journal, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly Pattern Number, your Name and Address.

The frock you wear most should be the frock that looks best! This smart home mode, Pattern 9925, was designed by Marian Martin to slenderize a larger figure. The front buttoning, emphasized by the skirt panels, subtracts from your hip measurements and adds to your height! It also makes this frock easy to launder and keep neat. Just enough fullness is released by shoulder darts for a becoming bosom line; the collar is attractive too, especially when made of contrast fabric or outlined with ric-rac like the front buttoining and the pockets. A half-belt is optional in back, and so are full-length sleeves—they're appropriate for a crepe or wool frock.

Pattern 9925 may be ordered only in women's sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 4⅝ yards 35 inch fabric and 2⅝ yards ric-rac.

Send Fifteen Cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your Size, Name, Address, and Style Number.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

I DO NOT know why my teacup did not crash to the floor, so thrilled and excited was I at Mary's sudden revelation, or how I set it back on the table. I only know that I found myself leaning tensely over the table, looking at Mary, and daring only to say one word "Yes?" with a rising inflection, lest I snap that thread of memory.

"She was such a romantic kid, poor Marion!" Mary's reminiscent voice went on, "that the 'something blue,' which she made me promise to send her when she should marry, intrigued her imagination to the point where she made me help build up around it a mystery for our code

"Only"—Mary paused with a tender, memory-laden smile—"she wouldn't trust it to the code book. She said it would be too dangerous to put it in writing. And I rehearsed the thing with her until I thought I'd go out of my mind, for I was crazy to get to my own affairs.

Envies Madge's Memory.

"If I only owned your memory, Auntie Madge," she went on ruefully, "I would have saved you a lot of time. But at first I couldn't remember a thing except Marion's eager little face and glowing eyes when asking me to promise to send her something blue for her wedding."

I wanted to shout, "If you'd only come to the point now!" But again I did not dare to break the thread of her memory. I contented myself with a reassuring smile at her and she took up her story again.

"According to her mystery—or, rather, ours, for I filled in a lot of details—she had been snatched away from her home by a gang of burglars only a few days before her scheduled wedding, and before I had given her the 'something blue.'

Hidden Jewels.

"Her mother, according to the yarn, owned many valuable jewels, and her father had a stolen Indian star of glowing gems. I'd just been reading 'The Moonstone,' you see, and I cribbed lavishly. The jewels were all hidden in such cunning fashion that nobody unfamiliar with the secret could find them.

"The gang members, according to Marion's imagination, made her write letters from the place where they were holding her, demanding that her parents put the jewels in a secluded place they named, together with a letter giving certain information about the Indian star jewel. She was directed to promise in the letters that she would be sent back as soon as they received the jewels and the information—especially, the information.

"But" — Mary smiled again—"the poor child's imagination went haywire at this point. She conjured by a conversation she had overheard, which outlined a plan to rub her out as soon as the gangsters got the jewels and the information. So she cozened the burglars into thinking she could hoodwink her parents more easily if she made them think she had run away to be married, and told her mother to ask me to send her 'something blue' for her wedding Remembers Clearly.

"She made me go over the meaning of that message dozens of times," Mary went on. "Literally it was to mean: 'I am in no danger, and am well-treated as long as you hold on to that information and the jewels. The minute they get it in their hands, I am to be killed so that I cannot tell anything about them. But of course they won't release me as long as they can't find out anything. So don't give them anything unless you get me away at the same time."

As Mary finished speaking, she looked over at me appealingly.

"It all fits in, doesn't it?" she asked

I tried to answer her, but found my throat too dry, from sheer excitement, for immediate utterance. I saw her looking at me with disappointment clouding her eyes, and made a tremendous effort to force my voice to action.

Must Tell Her Father.

"Of course. It explains everything," I croaked.

There was alarm in her eyes from my first word.

"Oh, what is the matter?" she cried.

"Nothing but excitement," I told her. "What you have just remembered is of such tremendous importance that my voice simply disappeared for a few seconds. But I mustn't delay a minute in getting hold of my father. He must know of this at once."

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, December 20.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

UNUSUAL excitement, commotion or stress in all departments of life make the events of this day unpredictable. All the forces and faculties may be under high stimuli and may incite to reckless, impulsive and inflammatory behavior, which may lead to dire consequences. Under control this heightened energy may be diverted and concentrated into decidedly constructive channels, with surprising benefits and achievements. Superiors, elders as well as strangers may be actively interested in promoting such worthy causes.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate an unusually lively and exciting year, with much stress and commotion. This may be manifest in false moves through impetuous, passionate, belligerent and reckless tendencies when precaution, calmness and well-directed methods might have a very decisive influence on the future life and its destiny.

A child born on this day should have great talent, energy and creative ability, to an exceptional or unique degree, but the best results may be negated by rash, impetuous and passionate conduct. Excellent rewards should come from vigilance, self-control and concentrated effort.

ENTRE NOUS CLUB.

Five hundred and bunco were played by members of the Entre Nous club recently at the home of Mrs. Nellie Phipps on Hedges street. Prizes were won by Mrs. Mary Altaffer and Mrs. Mary Hill. Christmas gifts were exchanged and luncheon was served. Hostess for the meeting on Jan. 21 will be Mrs. Hill, whose home is at 112 Hedges street.

ELECT OFFICERS.

Mrs Herman Baer was elected president of the Third district of the First Lutheran church at a meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. Harvey Rantz, 199 Sycamore street. Other officers named were Mrs. Otis Sowash, vice president, Mrs. Amos Day, secretary, and Mrs J. M. Stewart, treasurer. Eighteen members and two guests, Mrs G. E. Swoyer and Mrs. Milton Johnson, were in attendance A reading was given by Mrs Alma Wolford. Assisting the hostess at this meeting were Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Wolford and Mrs. Glenn Neff. Luncheon was served at the close of the afternoon. A covered dish dinner will be held Jan 23 in the parish house.

W. C. T. U. MEETS.

Mrs. Charles Young, 179 East Fourth street, entertained members of Iota Sigma, W. C. T. U. at her home Thursday afternoon. Devotions were led by Mrs. Ruth Richards. Mrs Young played several piano solos Mrs R O Stull, returned missionary from South America, gave an interesting talk.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

USE IT WHEN USEFUL

Offhand, it might seem as if an ace, destined to take only one trick, might be scored as well at one time as at another. It has two other purposes of importance, however, in addition to its trick-taking value. One of these is its power to kill off hostile trick-takers, and the other is its usefulness as an entry or re-entry, giving you a chance to make a lead when a lead will be most effective. For that reason, it is sometimes vital, even on the defense, to let the opponents have a trick which you could win, because you would rather have a different trick later on.

That raise of spades by North was not so bad as it looked, as his heart honors were made more valuable by the location of the hostile heart bid. South bid pretty strongly, however, and had to have his share of luck to make the contract—luck represented by the defenders' slip.

West made the sound opening lead of the diamond 9, East won with his A, and right there lost the chance to beat the contract. His return of the 5 was won by the J. West thereafter got the two trump tricks, but that was all.

East should have ducked the diamond 9 lead, keeping his A for a re-entry so he could try to give West a third-round ruff in case his lead was from a doubleton, which was more likely than that it was a singleton. Had he done that, West could have put him in the lead after winning a trump trick, and East's lead of a trump diamond would have produced the setting trick with West's insignificant little spade 6.

NEEDLECRAFT CLUB.

Mrs. Earl Velzy, Heights road, was hostess recently to members of the Needlecraft club for a covered-dish dinner. The home was decorated for the holiday season. Mrs. Bert Velzy, president, had charge of the business session during which plans were made to fill a Christmas basket. A social time was enjoyed and Christmas carols were sung. Gifts were exchanged by the members. Mrs. A. H. Au, 214 West Fifth street, will entertain the club on Jan. 8.

GIFT VOLUME PRESENTED TO CITY LIBRARY

'Black Lamb and Grey Falcon,' Study of Yugoslavia, on List of New Books.

"Black Lamb and Grey Falcon," Rebecca West's monumental study of Yugoslavia, its history and its people, has been presented to the Mansfield Public Library by the Memorial board in memory of Mrs. J. M. Burns.

Now among the new books on display Miss West's two-volume work is considered a magnificent chronicle told in personal terms and the volumes are well illustrated with photographs.

ANTHONY WAYNE by Harry Emerson Wildes, describes that well-known general as the trouble shooter of the American revolution. Far from being the Mad Anthony of legend, he was one of the most dynamic generals of the army, a man whose careful planning, military imagination and courage on the field often saved the fortunes of the colonies. In this full-length portrait we see not only Wayne the soldier, but also the politician, the financial spectacular, the ladies man, the society dandy— and one of the most engaging figures of the American past.

THE DUST WHICH IS GOD by William Rose Benet is a semi-autobiographical narrative, written in verse form, in which the author has pictured the story of his own life, under a disguise. It opens at the turn of the century, and as the story unfolds, the scene moves to California, back to Yale, and to the literary world of New York. No poet has written a work more comprehensive, more understanding, or more sensitive, about the world that has been the experience of adult Americans.

The aim of CONQUEST OF THE SEAS by Frank C. Bowen is to trace the history of the seas and of ships through the ages, particularly the part played by the Anglo-Saxons in the conquest of the seas. Every effort has been made to illustrate the story in all its aspects—and generous use has been made of maritime prints.

THE UNIVERSAL CONSTANT IN LIVING by F. M. Alexander has been added to the John Baxter Black collection.

Other new books are:

PHOTOGRAPHIC ENLARGING by Jordan; BRITAIN AT WAR; THE HIGHLAND CALL by Green; ART OF PACKAGING by Charlton; WAR IN THE AIR, SEPTEMBER 1939-May 1941 by Garnett; MAKE AND MEND; ENGINEER'S MANUAL by Camm; MOUNTAIN SCENE by Smythe; WOOD PATTERNMAKING by McCaslin.

YEARS OF ILLUSION is the third volume of Harold Sinclair's triology which began with "American Years" and continued with "Years of Growth." It is the story of a typical midwestern prairie city from the Spanish American war to the outbreak of the first World war. This was an era of doomed prosperity, an age of materialism following the years of growth—torchlight parades, William Jennings Bryan, the first motor cars and Billy Sunday. Complete in itself, it is a fitting conclusion to a trilogy dedicated to an analysis of our culture.

LEAF GOLD by W. W. Chamberlain is a tale of tobacco in Kentucky and the people who grow it. A success story of one of many little people who succeeded where others failed. Behind the reports of the lives of the people in a little tobacco-growing community is the story of tobacco itself, how it is grown, the joys and hazards of its cultivation. It is written by one who knows the land and its people, for the author was born in the Kentucky tobacco country.

THURSDAY'S CHILD by Donald Macardle is a charming story of a prosaic father and a romantic mother, of Phoebe, the family beauty who wanted to get into the movies, and of Fennis. Phoebe made a fatal mistake when she took Fennis with her to the studios, for it was Fennis who was spotted by a director with an eye for the unusual, and who was dragged protestingly through the screen tests and, still protesting, played her first part.

OTHER FICTION: DEATH AND TAXES by Dodge; WITH THIS RING by Eberhart; THERE'S ONE IN EVERY FAMILY by Eisenberg.

A Nazi Spy?

Reputed Austrian baron and an alien, Ernest Frolich De Meyer, 27, has been booked by Los Angeles authorities on suspicion of espionage and impersonating an U. S. army officer.

MANSFIELDERS WIN LEASE SUIT

Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Strater, 409 Lexington avenue, were the winners today in a court case involving their legality of a lease on their filling station property at Lexington avenue and Mendota street.

The Ohio supreme court refused to reconsider lower court decisions which upheld the legality of the lease taken by the Ohio Oil company.

Strater said the Knox Oil company, first holder of the lease, sold its interests to the Ohio Oil company which attempted to break the lease. The dispute then was taken into the Knox county court which found in favor of the Straters as owners of the property.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE WITHIN $1,482 OF REACHING '41 GOAL

Urging public support of the Christmas seal sale until the goal is met, Mrs. Harold Adams, executive secretary of the Christmas Seal Fund, announced today that receipts so far were within $1,481 of meeting the $6,600 quota sought by the Richland County Tuberculosis association.

Present receipts total $5,119.63 in the effort to obtain funds to continue the X-ray work in the county schools and also the follow-up home work and skin-testing, according to Mrs. Adams.

Thousands of Christmas seals were mailed to Richland county residents the last of November to make this work possible. Each envelope containing 200 seals valued at $2.

The drive ends Christmas day and persons receiving the seals are asked to send their contributions by that date to the Christmas Seal office at 83 Marion avenue and to return all seals they do not wish to keep.

Richland county had 27 patients who were x-rayed and examined for tuberculosis in December, Mrs. Adams said, and six positive cases were found. Four of the six persons with tuberculosis are in their early twenties.

The seal sale "is a protection of our personal health," Mrs. Adams said. "When tuberculosis is defeated, we are protecting our own homes."

CONTRIBUTES TO U. S. O.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—(U.P.)—When 9-year-old William Flynn contributed his 4 cents at the United Service Organizations' office here, he was profusely thanked. "Oh, that's okay," responded the youth, squaring his shoulders. "I can spare it."

SON OF NOTED GENERAL TOILS AS ARMY ROOKIE

Gave Up Movie-Writing Job To Enter Career That Made Father Famous.

(By Wide World)

FORT SILL, Okla.—The quiet-spoken, slender private over there at the 155-mm. Howitzer is the son of the late Brig. General William "Billy" Mitchell, the man who argued so vociferously that planes could sink battleships.

Like his famed father, who by the end of the first World war was a brigadier general commanding A. E. F. aviation, John L. Mitchell launched himself upon an army career the hard way—in the ranks.

It is quite possible that Mitchell might have used the influence attached to his father's name (and he also had R. O. T. C. training at Cornell university) to obtain a commission. But he didn't.

Last Oct. 10 Mitchell enlisted for three years at Milwaukee "because I am interested in this sort of thing," swapping a healthy pay check as a writer for Warner Brothers studio for a $21-a-month from Uncle Sam.

Naturally, he wanted a go at the service that brought fame and decorations from the United States, England, France and Italy to his father. But his eyes were not quite up to air force standards when he took the examinations, he said, and so he choose artillery. He was inducted at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

A private in battery D, 27th battalion at the field artillery replacement training center here, Mitchell is at the post for a 13-week course.

His officers say he is working hard at a tough job, toils on the rifle range, wrestles with the heavy artillery, and stands guard.

They report he is a good marksman with a rifle, a 37 mm. anti-tank gun, or a 155 mm. Howitzer. He knew the manual of arms when he arrived and obligingly helped his buddies master its mysteries.

He now is part-time chief of one of the Howitzer sections, a job ordinarily reserved for sergeants.

"Whether I make the army a career," he said in reply to a question, "depends on a lot of things."

But his associates predict he will. For, they say, John L. Mitchell is a chip off the old block.

California Lays Claim to Bigness In Its Children

BERKELEY, Cal. —(INS)— California's latest claim to bigness is its children.

Results of body measurements of 147,000 children from all major geographical divisions of the United States show that California children are on the whole taller and heavier than children in other areas.

This is shown in a study of the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, with the cooperation of research centers in 16 states.

The study in California was conducted by Dr. Harold E. Jones, director of the University of California Institute of Child Welfare.

Ages covered in the study were from six through 14 years. From the age of seven, California boys proved to be taller and heavier than boys of any of the other states. The difference seemed to increase with age; thus at six years the California boys were on the average slightly lighter than the boys measured in Illinois; at seven years they were slightly heavier, at ten years five pounds heavier, and at 14 ten pounds heavier.

Officer Held for Criticism of Navy

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Manhattan Nights.

WELL, the war-tension has tapered off a little in the Broadway area, proving that you can get used to anything, even the possibility that tomorrow or the next day the blackout will be no fooling, and the air raid sirens will be talking business, and the planes you hear overhead will be fixing to aim a bomb right at the nitery in which you are calmly sitting.

Kilgallen

Now that the shock has eased off some, the talk is not just war. It is war and what-do-you-think-about-Pat Di Cicco-getting-Gloria Vanderbilt-after-all and it is war and I-was-all-set-to-go-to-the-Coast-for-the- Rose-Bowl -game, and war and I-hear-some-writer--is-tossing -a-terrific -suit-at-the-authors-of-"Junior Miss," and war and if-you-think-the-taxes-are-high-this-year-wait -till-next-year.

Olsen and Johnson are putting in a first aid course for chorines and show girls, just in case. (You'd have thought they'd done that long ago, with all their hi-jinks!)

Renee Carrol, the lively red-headed hat check girl at Sardi's, gives you the latest headline when she takes your fedora. There are big signs in the kitchens of the swankiest night clubs ordering the waiters: "Talk English!"

But people are beginning to get up and dance again when the bands play rhumbas; and you couldn't get into the Strand night before last; and couples are still playing gin rummy under the white Christmas trees of the Barberry room.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson's column was not available for publication today. It will be resumed tomorrow.

The laughter that was halted on the afternoon of Dec. 7 is beginning to be heard again.

One of El Morocco's hard-fast rules forbids any of its musicians to mix with customers. Most of the bandsmen have taken this restriction casually, probably figuring, "Who wants to mix, anyway?"

One rebel among the tune players, however, resented this leashing of his liberties, especially since he was fond of an occasional chat with the clientele. He disliked intensely the Morocco routine of playing a set, then proceeding downstairs through a long dark tunnel into a subterranean lounge, where the musicians were accustomed to wait for the next medley. He wasn't the lounging type. Maybe that's why he played the drums.

Well, he fretted and stewed under the Perona edict and proceeded to get on increasingly bad terms with the lord of the zebra stripes. Finally, in the ultimate gesture of protest, he shopped around town and bought a coal miner's hat—you know, the kind with the built-in flashlight. Regularly, he'd put it on before making the long underground trek during the band's intermission, and he'd wear it until it was time to return to the podium.

When Perona protested, the sensitive hide-beater was grimly defiant.

"If I'm working in a mine," he complained, "I'll outfit myself to match!"

He continued this amusing stunt until it became evident that he was about to conclude his service at the club.

On the last night of his engagement, he beat at his drums with gay abandon, and the customers got such a big kick out of him. Because there in the midst of this swank society orchestra he bounced, wearing his miner's hat—and with the light turned on!

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—In front of a huge mirror a stocky red-headed man in a sweat shirt was perspiringly hoofing it to an old-time tune. Beside him, keeping step easily, was a pretty red-haired girl in sweater and slacks.

George M. Cohan lying ill in New York, would have relished the sight: Jimmy Cagney and sister Jean getting in dancing shape to play George M. Cohan and sister Josie in "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

Jimmy came off panting when the man at the piano let up briefly, but Jean kept clogging, her feet tapping out a rhythm. "The kid has a wonderful memory," said Jimmy. "I wish mine were as good. But by the time you've changed steps nine or ten times, it's not too easy to remember what comes next. The mirror's supposed to help. I guess it does. She doesn't need it but I do."

"Yankee Doodle Dandy," story of Cohan's life in the theater, is to cover a memory-hallowed period in the theater. But memories aren't the reason, Director Bill Cagney wanted to film it.

"I want to do it," he said, "as a story that could happen only in America. Where else, for instance, could an actor caricature the head of his country today—as Cohan did in 'I'd Rather Be Right?' Not only that, but he's the only actor ever to get the Congressional Medal of Honor—for his contributions to the American spirit."

It seems to have taken some doing to get Cohan's consent to the biography. The dean of the American theater once had things to say about Hollywood to crisp this town's ears. That was after Cohan came out for pictures and found himself treated like a fellow who didn't know his way around.

That was Hollywood 10 years ago. Maybe it would be different now. Maybe not. Then it didn't mean anything that here was a chap who'd never been to school and yet (the American theme again) had been tops in playwriting, acting, directing, song-writing, in every branch of show business. A man whose lifetime gross income from all activities has been around $87,000,000, who at one time had five shows running simultaneously, who had taken in as much as $165,000 in a single week, who had written more than 500 songs including "Over There," "It's a Grand Old Flag," and other star-spangled ditties worthy of a July 4 baby, which he was.

Well, it probably would be different now. Hollywood's making a picture about him—a picture with an unique problem, according to Producer Bill.

"It's been hard to find enough reverses in Cohan's life," he said. "There's been almost too much success."

Producer Bill, who as you know, is Jimmy's brother, thinks Jimmy is the only actor in town who could play Cohan. "When Cohan hit the stage, it was like a cyclone," he said. "Jimmy has the vitality to do it."

BLAST STRIKES PLUM BROOK TNT PLANT, 2 HURT

Doctors Rushed To Scene; Army Executives Call Explosion Accident.

(By Associated Press)

SANDUSKY—At least two men were known today to have suffered injuries in an explosion at the TNT-producing Plum Brook ordnance plant six miles south of here.

Austin James, 23, of Oberlin, and Louis Harlan, 51, of Sandusky, were brought to Providence hospital shortly after the blast had sent ambulances racing toward the $40,000,000 works last night.

James was reported suffering a leg injury, possibly a fracture, and shock. Harlan was treated for burns.

Physicians hastily summoned from neighboring towns were reported by an attendant at Good Samaritan hospital to have treated "several" injured at the hospital on the ordnance grounds.

State highway patrolmen said they were told five men were hurt when an explosion demolished a three-story building on a production line.

A motorist driving toward a church at the edge of the grounds reported the blast made a display like a July 4 celebration. Members of the congregation were huddled in the church basement when he arrived, he said.

Army ordnance executives were silent on the cause or extent of the blast, although one spokesman described as "not serious" what he termed an accident—without identifying it as an explosion.

It was the second accident to an American ordnance plant in a week. Last Friday a melting unit at the Iowa ordnance plant near Burlington, Ia., blew up while shells for 81 mm. trench mortars were being loaded. The casualties included eight dead, seven missing and more than 40 injured.

All surrounding communities, including Huron, Milan, Norwalk, Fremont, Lorain, Elyria were given emergency calls under which physicians, nurses and ambulances were placed on the alert, but an hour later they were told they would not be needed. Ambulances sent from Sandusky returned within a short time.

The plant still is incomplete, and only one production line is reported to be in operation. Each line consists of a number of buildings strung out over a large area, so that an accident at any one point would be minimized.

CAMP SITE IN OHIO SELECTED

Army Chooses Chillicothe Area For New Training Base 'When Needed.'

(By Associated Press)

CHILLICOTHE—Ohio congressmen advised local officials today that the war department had selected the Chillicothe area for construction of a new army training camp when funds are allocated.

Sen. Harold H. Burton (R-Ohio) tetlegraphed Mayor Harold H. Brown from Washington that Chillicothe was one of five areas to be given preference "when additional camps are to be constructed and funds become available" for acquisition of property.

"The war department announces that the locations have been chosen in order that interested army agencies can perfect plans for the camps should it later on become necessary to increase the strength of our armed forces," Burton wired.

Rep. Harold K. Claypool (D-Ohio) said he had been advised that the other campsites selected were Rolan Springs, Ga., Blisstown, Ill., Gainesville, Texas, and Centerville, Miss.

PHYSICIAN KILLS SELF

COUNCIL ORDER IGNORED, CITY HOLDS UP TRAFFIC LIGHT BILL

Although three traffic lights purchased by the city last summer have been in operation for several months, the city has made no payment for them because one of the lights was installed at the wrong intersection.

City Auditor Paul L. Kelley said today that he had been withholding payment of the traffic light purchase until city council takes action on the matter.

Council records show that it approved the appropriation of $900 for the purchase of the three new traffic lights. Because it had received several petitions from residents near three of the city's busiest intersections, council ordered the lights placed at the intersections of Penn avenue and Fourth street, Wayne and Grace streets and Glessner and Sturges avenues.

Lights were placed at Penn and Fourth and Grace and Wayne but the third light was installed at the intersection of Park avenue west and West Park drive instead of Glessner and Sturges avenues.

Although an ordinance asking permission for the temporary installation of the light at West Park drive has been prepared for several weeks, it has not been presented to council.

Philip Klein, 64, of 154 Arthur avenue, died Wednesday at his home as the result of injuries received on Oct. 17 when struck by an automobile at the intersection of Glessner and Sturges avenues.

START VACATION

Mansfield School Children Begin Two-Week Holiday.

More than 6,300 pupils in Mansfield public schools put aside their books at the close of classes today and prepared for their annual Christmas vacation of two weeks. Classes will resume Jan. 5.

Hundreds of other pupils in Richland county rural schools will also have holiday vacations. The time and length of their vacations vary in the different rural districts.

Madison township schools close Tuesday and resume Jan. 5.

In Mansfield schools today there was little classroom work as pupils staged their annual Christmas programs. Parents attended many of the functions.

Up and Down the Street

By standing at attention and reciting the pledge of allegiance as their American flag is raised each morning, pupils at Newman school carry their patriotism right into the classroom. Started on Monday by Principal W. A. Freeman, the ceremony has attracted no little attention from passersby who stop and watch Boy Scouts Raymond Mastandreo and Charles Evans Butler slowly raise the flag while a different grade each morning stands before the flagpole to salute and give the pledge of allegiance. At dusk the flag is lowered and cared for by the Scouts. Principal Freeman says that the little ceremony will continue until the weather gets too cold.

At least 150 Richland county men in service will be minus their Christmas package of cigarets and candy obtained for them in the "Smokes for Yanks" campaign unless parents and friends pick them up at the American Legion home and mail immediately. Earl Saltzgaber, chairman of the Soldiers-Citizens' committee, expressed concern today over the number of packages still to be called for and asked that parents and friends make a special effort to get them. The committee has no address list so it will be necessary for families to mail the packages, he said.

A minor mishap at the Rickets and Nichols printing shop in the News-Journal building called for some ingenuity—and quick work by four members of the staff of "The Hyphonerian," student publication of Senior high school. The Christmas issue of the paper has on its first page, printed in red ink over the regular type, a large picture of Santa Claus and the message in large red type, "A Merry Christmas To All." When the press run of 1,300 was two-thirds of the way completed, the bottom curl, or "tail," of the letter "y" broke off. This would have been trivial except that it was an unusual type, and there wasn't another "y" to be had. So the press run was completed, and the students went to work with red pencils, writing in the missing part of the letter on 450 copies. They were Lee Adams, editor-in-chief; William Dietrichson, assistant editor; Frank Pival, feature editor, and William Clark, reporter.

ENDS PROJECTS

NYA Will Only Maintain Those For Defense Purposes.

National Youth administration projects in Richland county and Ohio which are not affiliated with the army, navy, or civilian defense will be closed immediately, it was announced today by Leo B. Jacobs, state NYA administrator.

It had not been determined today what effect the order will have on projects in Richland county. It is expected, however, that four or five girls who have been employed recently in the traffic department and the mayor's office at the city building will be transferred to other work.

Jacobs said the girls' projects will be reorganized to concentrate entirely on civilian defense work. They will devote their time to hospital and food projects, child care, sewing units, and clerical work in civilian defense offices.

Officials at the NYA training center near Mifflin said today they had not been informed of the curtailment order. They said the center is devoting its attention to the training of young men for defense jobs.

VETERAN OF AIR CORPS HITS POLICY

Col. Muhlenberg Blames Lack of Planes For Japanese Success at Hawaii.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Col. H. C. Kress Muhlenberg, a veteran of almost a quarter of a century in the air corps, was confined to quarters today while army investigators decided whether he violated war department policy in a speech referring to the U. S. navy as "a gone gosling."

Long an advocate of a large air force, Col. Muhlenberg told the Curtiss-Wright Flying club of Columbus night before last that the navy "has its place but is a bad, bad second to air power."

The former commandant of Hickam field, Hawaii, told the club that "now that war has come, the American people are going to ask 'Where are all of the planes that we've been producing?'"

"You know where those planes are and who is responsible," he said. "You can't send your planes all over the world and have them in Hawaii when they're needed."

The 54-year-old officer was ordered to remain at home while Col. William H. W. Youngs, army inspector general, investigates.

It was learned that Col. Muhlenberg had been warned that his criticism of military policy had not been approved by superior officers and that it was detrimental to enlistment in the air force. He had been critical in other recent speeches.

He was commander of Hickam field from 1938 to 1940 and more recently had been air officer of the Fifth Corps area. About two months ago he applied for retirement, which was to have become effective at the end of accrued leave early next year. He is a West Point graduate and was assigned to the air corps in 1917.

Col. Muhlenberg told the flying club members that it was "just plain luck" that Japan had not taken the Hawaiian islands.

"We almost lost our most vital possession in the Pacific because there weren't enough planes," he said. "But the Japs were too dumb. They spread their attack too much and erred in not taking Hawaii.

"The American people are going to be hunting for "goats" to blame. But they are the goats because they wouldn't let the air corps have the planes. The Japanese attack was successful more because of the lack of U. S. planes rather than because of its surprise."

Col. Muhlenberg was one of the principal speakers when the all-Ohio air tour and army recruiting officers visited Mansfield airport last summer.

Expect Big Crowd For Can Matinee at Theater Tomorrow

Everything is set for the big canned food matinee to be sponsored at the Madison theater Saturday at 9:30 a. m. by the Junior Association of Commerce to obtain canned fruit, vegetables and other foodstuffs for Christmas baskets for needy Mansfield families.

The management has obtained a special movie bill for that event headed by a riotous full length Joe E. Brown comedy feature. Two "Porky Pig" cartoons and another comedy, "Spills for Thrills" complete the bill.

Open to both children and adults the matinee has only one "price of admission." That is, at least one can of fruit, vegetables or other staple, and the can must be tin as glass is too breakable. No limit is put on the amount of donations.

Approximately 600 cans are needed to fill the baskets to be supplied through the Community Christmas sponsors, The Mansfield News-Journal and the Junior Association of Commerce, and the canned goods not supplied at the matinee must be purchased with funds obtained through voluntary contributions and a recent benefit performance.

Doors will be open at 9 a. m. to take care of the crowd and the show will start promptly at 9:30 a. m.

OFFICES MOVED

Navy Recruiting Headquarters In New Postoffice Location.

For the third time within a little more than a year the U. S Naval recruiting station in the postoffice building was moved yesterday as Rrecruiters W. D. Cox, Charles Scholtz and George Bock moved their equipment down the corridor from room four to room five, to make room for U. S. Civil Service examiners and their applicants.

Officer Cox said today that 12 applicants had been examined and accepted within the last two days out of some 25-30 interviews.

Those accepted were: Ferdinand J Schwaner, 296 Second avenue; Richard B. Love, and Dale E. McQuate of Ashland; Duane D. Schmidt, Shreve; James Holley, Washington Courthouse; Miller M. Halsey, Butler; Bernard C. Williams, Mt. Vernon; Carroll B. Scarbrough, Fredericktown; William J. Szymonik, Mansfield, S. C. S. 41-0; Harold Harrod, Mt. Vernon; Joseph Colopy, Danville and John S. Fulk, Ashland R. D. 1.

Canada produced 625,000 tons of pig iron in the first half of 1941, as against 550,000 tons in the first six months of 1940.

"We're Making This The Best Christmas We Ever Had . .

. . . WE'RE STARTED ON THE ROAD TO THRIFT WITH A PROVIDENT LOAN"

"Not so very long ago, we were 'all confusion' about money matters . . . owed bills here and there, and just couldn't make any headway. But a number of our friends told us how much a Provident loan could help, so we decided to try it out.

We found that the Provident organization really do want to help. They worked out a dandy budget, and loaned us enough cash to clear up all bills Now, with only one place to pay, and easy-to-manage payments . . . why, we're sitting on top of the world. If you need advice and help on bothersome money matters, let the Provident people help you to get a fresh financial start, as they did for us."

The Walls Came Tumbling + +

By Joseph McCord
(Copyright, 1941.)

CHAPTER XXI

"Yes. I'll probably start babbling incoherently if I try to tell you just how I regard you. I knew there was something different about you the first time we met. Oh, I know that sounds like the old formula! But it's true. You were so capable and kind and—I may as well say it, because I think so. Beautiful. But that wasn't what has counted most. You were different . . . so . . . Lord, what a botch I'm making of it! Somehow I knew you were a woman who never would let a fellow down. I knew it then and I know it now. In short, I . . . I love you. I suppose no one has found a better way of putting it." There was something almost helpless about the admission.

"This sounds like a formula, too," Carol said. "I can hardly believe all this is true, even if you do. You don't really know me."

"I don't have to!"

"I think you do. You know absolutely nothing about me, my life and my family."

"I know your dad." He smiled for the first time. "I like him immensely."

"I am glad. He's everything in the world to me. But you didn't like him when you first met him."

"I didn't," Chester admitted. "I thought he was a small-town lawyer or politician who needed taking down a peg or two. And he ended by taking me down instead. If I had known you were his daughter when I first saw you, I might have acted worse than I did. But it wouldn't have lasted long."

"You weren't exactly polite." Carol found it a relief to say that, to escape momentarily from some sort of concession that would be demanded. It would have been much simpler had she been able to intimate that she was betrothed—or at least interested in some other man.

"Are you telling me?" Chester demanded wearily. "And the thought of that money coming to your father made me more impossible. Something made me afraid it would harm you. I know that money never could turn your head, but it was a fear of what it might do to you in this small town. I realized that it could bring you unhappiness. It was sure to stir up petty jealousies and perhaps the loss of friendships. I couldn't endure the idea. I even tried to tell you so once. Just now I believe I said I had it all reasoned out to my satisfaction, but I'm aware it doesn't make sense to you. The trouble is that I don't know the words, Carol. It sounds outrageous, selfish. It is. But that's a part of it . . . just the same as I know you are the woman I've been trying to find from the beginning of things." Wistfulness crept into his voice. "I wish you'd find you've been waiting for me."

"You want me to be honest don't you?" she asked softly.

"Surely. You'd never be anything but fair."

"I hope not. Then you know I'm going to tell you that I can't return your . . . your regard in the least. How could I? You asked me to believe you are sincere in what you say. I'm trying to do that. But I don't know you . . . the real you. As a friend I could like you very much. I have learned to, now. But you want so much more. I've no reason to think I ever could. Don't you see?"

"Yes. I expected that. Nothing more."

"There isn't anything more I can say, unless that I always will respect what you have told me. And that I'm sorry."

"I'm not sorry! I try to be fair, too, in most things. It didn't seem quite honest to go on caring the way I do, seeing you whenever I could . . . and not let you know where my hopes lay. Now you do. I almost had to tell you that I was fighting for your love, no matter if it were hopeless. And I won't believe that it is . . . yet."

Chester rose and moved closer to Carol who had gotten to her feet at the same instant. They stood looking into each other's eyes without speaking. Then Carol suddenly found herself in his arms, crushed against him. His cheek was on her shining hair. Dimly she heard his whisper:

"My dear . . . my dear . . ."

For an instant Chester sensed the surrender of the slim body. Then she stiffened. Her hands pushed him away.

"No . . . no!" she exclaimed brokenly. His arms dropped to his sides.

"Sorry, Carol. But I love you so—I."

"Go away. Please!" she begged.

He walked toward the hall door leaving her standing there. About to leave the room, he turned to say quietly:

"I'll find my way out. And back."

The significance of the last words was lost upon Carol as she stared at the nearby lamp. Her brown eyes were wide, filled with an expression that might have been momentary exultation, fright or shame. She was confused. She did not know how much time elapsed before the sound of Aunt Cassie's step in the hall made her clutch at the lamp pull with frantic haste.

"Oh, you're still in here? I thought I heard the front door close, but I didn't hear you talking."

Mrs. Steel came into the half-lighted room. She always made a close inspection of the lower floor before retiring, to make sure each piece of furniture was in its exact place. To be certain the firemen would find everything nice in case they were called in during the night. That was Andy's frequently offered explanation. There was nothing in the position of the parlor chairs to produce a comment, although Cassandra sniffed the odor of cigaret smoke impatiently.

"Seems to me that Dennison man's coming here pretty often of late, ain't he?"

There was no reply. Aunt Cassie continued her reflections nevertheless.

"He's a nice-appearing young man and I like to hear him talk. I like people who are lively. But I can tell you one thing about him."

"Yes?" Carol said with an effort.

"He's almighty used to having his way about things. You can put that down in your book."

Carol attempted no answer to that, but retreated to the hall without undue haste and to her small room. She undressed quickly and crept into bed, prepared to feign sleep if there were any further interruptions.

It was very nearly dawn when her weary mind allowed her eyes to close in the sleep of exhaustion. Even so, she rose earlier than usual and attempted to apply a trace of color to her pale cheeks, wondering whether her eyes would betray her. They felt queer, as though there were hollow places behind them. Her haste was an attempt to avoid breakfasting with Aunt Cassie whose own eyes were uncomfortably sharp at times. But, to Carol's relief, Amos was at the table lingering over his hot cakes and coffee.

"You ran out on me last night," was his greeting. "I believe the big boss is cutting in on me. Darned if I won't be glad to see Andy!"

"So will I," Carol agreed, almost wistfully. Andy had been very much in her thoughts these past hours. "I'll tell you what." She tried to smile. "If you'll wait until I drink a cup of coffee, I'll ride as far as the office with you."

"Fine!" Amos beamed. "That will make my whole day!"

"Aren't you going to eat some cakes, Carol?" Mrs. Steel demanded from the doorway.

"I don't care for anything except coffee."

"Humph. That's no way to start the day, especially when you're rushing off early. I'll declare I don't see how you girls live these days on what you eat."

"She looks mighty good to me," Amos said. "Just right . . . not too thick or too thin."

When he let her out in front of Dr. Silverthorne's office entrance, Carol suddenly saw Wige pass in his small car. He must be going to work early, too. He passed without recognizing her.

But Carol felt her cheeks flush hotly as she turned away.

SCHOOLS AT BUCYRUS TO CLOSE TODAY

Pupils To Resume Classes on Jan. 5; Cage Team Plays Shelby Tonight.

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus schools will close this afternoon for the midyear vacation to resume classes Jan. 5.

This morning a special pep assembly prior to the Shelby-Bucyrus basketball game tonight, was held and Thursday morning a group of students from Heidelberg college presented a program. In the afternoon the annual Christmas program was held when gifts were presented to the teaching staff.

Other coming events for students are the alumni-varsity basketball game Dec. 26 to be followed by the student-alumni dance sponsored by the Girls' Booster club and the Marion-Bucyrus game Jan. 2 and dance on the same night, sponsored by the baseball team.

* * *

More than $250 is still needed to provide baskets of food for Bucyrus needy families, Adjt. Ruth Ward of the Salvation Army stated today in reporting on the progress of the Christmas Kettles which have been on the streets for two weeks. The kettles will remain on the streets until Christmas eve.

Last year 120 baskets of food were provided through funds received from the kettles.

Members of the newly appointed Bucyrus defense council met for the first time Thursday night at the call of Mayor William F. Whiteamire, and discussed preliminary plans for defense activities in the city.

Members of the council are J. W. Jones, S. E. Auck, A. L. Stuckert, William F. Mader, Carl Jacobs, Russell Miller, Ray Oberlander, D. C. Baer, A. J. Gubernath, B. L. Spurlock, R. E. Limpach and Rowland R. Peters.

HAVE PARTY

CRESTLINE—Three tables of rook progressed following the serving of dinner when members of the Merry Hour club met for their annual Christmas party recently at the Y. M. C. A.

Miss Felicia Muntis, a guest, received first prize and Mrs. L. E. Kockovsky second. Mrs. Henry Gresmer was re-elected president of the club and Mrs. R. L. Hoffman, secretary-treasurer.

WEDS TODAY

SHELBY—Marriage vows will be exchanged by Miss Mildred Love of Shelby and Richard Armbruster of Plymouth at 7 p. m. today at the Sacred Heart seminary on the Shelby-Mansfield road.

A party honoring the bride-elect was given this week by the office girls of the Shelby Mutual Plate Glass and Casualty company at Greenlawn, west of Crestline. A gift was presented to the honored guest.

CLUB MEMBERS PRESENT PLAY

CRESTLINE—A white gift offering was taken among members of the Wesleyan Service Guild at a meeting recently at the home of Mrs. C. A. Cowgill. The offering will be given for Chinese relief.

A playlet entitled "Adoration," in which various members participated, was given. Alice Solinger told the Christmas story, "The Good Shepherd."

Associate hostesses were Mrs. C. A. Vaughn and Mrs. M. N. Reed. Installation service for new officers will be held at the next meeting, Jan. 21.

JAP BOMBERS ATTACK BASE

Make Two Thrusts at Vital Manila Area; U. S. Subs Get 2 Enemy Ships.

Nine were in the second group, which caused an alarm in Manila about 1:30 p. m. (11:30 p. m. EST Thursday), following an alarm for 30 minutes—from 12:35 p. m. (10:35 p. m. EST Thursday) to 1:05 p. m.

About an hour before the United States far eastern army headquarters announced that "there has been no enemy activity this morning."

A damaging raid on another Philippine island was officially reported earlier while the commonwealth government interior department announced it held complete dominion over all provinces except for three scattered Japanese beachheads on Luzon island.

(At sea, the navy department announced in Washington, United States submarines had sunk a Japanese transport and probably a destroyer. No details were given.)

The far eastern command announced that more than 30 Japanese planes took part yesterday afternoon in a raid on Iloilo City, an important port about 310 miles south of Manila on Panay island.

Its communique said civilian casualties and, property damage were reported from the city, which has numerous industries and a population of 20,000.

Panay island thus was the fourth in the Archipelago to be raided by the Japanese. They also have bombed the key island, Luzon, the airport at Davao on Mindanao island; and the central island of Cebu, southeast of Panay.

The commonwealth interior department said it was in control of all provinces except for the three invaded sectors of Luzon; that peace and order were established throughout the islands; and that Filipino morale was high.

The announcement indicated every civilian was helping defend the islands. It said the people were cooperating fully against subversive elements and fifth columnists.

The Japanese are attempting to set up local puppet governments and to circulate their own money in the areas they have occupied, news dispatches said.

Quoting persons who escaped from those areas, these advices said Japanese in such areas were appearing as army officers or civilian officials. They were said to have put on uniforms promptly when warships hove to off the coasts.

The Philippine constabulary and other soldiers battled furiously against the Japanese at every point but they were reported outnumbered at Aparri, Vigan and Legaspi.

The U S far eastern command announced that Gen. Basilio J. Valdes, chief of staff of the Philippine army, and his entire headquarters were inducted into the service of the United States this morning by Col Richard J Marshall, deputy chief of staff of the U. S. army of the far east.

The decision to consolidate the Philippine forces and United States far eastern army for the "maximum cohesion and coordination" of all defense forces was announced yesterday by the U. S command

P. T. A. UNIT TO AID RED CROSS

South School Group at Galion To Participate In Drive For Funds.

GALION—Th Parent-Teachers association of the South school decided at a meeting Thursday evening to participate in the present Red Cross emergency drive for funds for war relief.

B. W. Myers, principal of the building, reported Christmas activities at the school.

The evening's program was in charge of Mrs. Mary Wagner. An instrumental duet was played by Gene Cronenwett and Paul Schnegelsberger. A round table discussion in charge of Walter Sindlinger was presented by three of his students, Waldene Rhoades, Pearl Morris, and John Metheany, on the subject' "The Spirit of Democracy Developed Through Law Observance and Proper Discipline."

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening. Today, the P. T. A. provided a Christmas treat for pupils of the school.

The Luther League will have charge of Christmas decorations at Peace Lutheran church, and final plans for this work were made at the monthly meeting of the leaguers Thursday evening at the parish house. Marguerite Boehm presided for the meeting.

The program which was in charge of Mrs. Philip E. Auer and Mrs. Robert Manning, consisted of readings by Winona Lehman and Lorena Williams. A contest was won by Annabelle Chapman. During the social hours, gifts were exchanged. Those who served on the refreshments committee were Betty Richardson, Betty Smith, and Rosalyn Kuenzli.

CONTRIBUTIONS LAG

BUCYRUS — Contributions to the national war relief fund of the Red Cross are slow in coming in, Crawford county Chairman T. C. Henderson stated today. Quota for the county, excluding Crestline and Galion, is $8,500. Only four Bucyrus organizations have contributed to the fund to date.

MRS. WALTER WATRONS NAMED TO HEAD CRESTLINE CHURCH GROUP

CRESTLINE—Mrs. Walter Watrous was elected to serve as president of the Ernest Workers class of the English Lutheran Sunday school at the annual Christmas party held recently at the home of Mrs. Gregg Pennington. Mrs. Henry Gresmer and Mrs. Russell Ivail were associate hostesses.

Mrs. Watrous succeeds Mrs. Glen Caldwell. Other officers elected were Mrs. Floyd Pry, vice president; Mrs. O. P. Tracht, secretary-treasurer.

News In Crawford County Courts

Common Pleas Court.

BUCYRUS—Russell Grasley was convicted by a jury in common pleas court Thursday of a charge of second degree manslaughter. The action was the outgrowth of an automobile accident April 26 this year when Mrs. George Holt, mother of three small children, received fatal injuries in a crash on the Marion road, south of Bucyrus. Pronouncement of sentence was deferred by the court.

Deed ordered and Dallas Corrigan elected to take premises in the partition action of W. N. Campbell against W. H. Campbell, et al.

Motion of the defendant to require the state to furnish bill of particulars sustained in part in the three indictments against C. W. Jolly charged with permitting a minor to handle intoxicating liquor.

Actions of Mauda Finical against William Pfahler and Floyd Finical against William Pfahler settled and dismissed.

In the appeal from justice of the peace court of R. A. Jolly company against M. W. Eckstein the plaintiff has been granted leave to plead by Dec. 27.

Probate Court.

Applications for marriage licenses were filed by two couples Thursday. Applicants were Melvin Orla Ruble, 27, Bucyrus, machine operator, son of Orla and Cora Ruble and Mary Alice Beck, 19, daughter of Harvey and Harriet Beck and Walter John Scott, 20, Bucyrus, Route 1 farmer, son of Walter and Jessie Scott and Miriam Eileen Cole, 20, office worker, daughter of Arthur and Anita Stephan.

Probate Court.

BUCYRUS—Three couples made application for marriage licenses and one license was issued Wednesday.

Applications were filed by Donald Francis Reed, 22, Galion, tree surgeon, son of Albert and Martha Reed and Betty Jane Arndt, 22, Galion, clerk, daughter of Mrs. Eva Arndt; Carl Albert Scheiber, 21, Crestline, refrigeration engineer, son of Eberle and Mary Scheiber, and Janice Eleanor Ruth, 19, Bucyrus, inspector, daughter of William and Ada Ruth, and by Charles Nelson Scott, 24, Columbus, railway mail clerk, son of Ona and Ruth Scott and Eunice Elinor Green, 22, North Robinson, teacher, daughter of Walter and Ruth Green.

A license was issued to Richard Zeller Leonard, 22, Bucyrus, soldier, son of E. R. and Georgia Leonard and Wilma Mae Inscho, 21, Bucyrus, clerk, daughter of Dice and Lula Inscho.

Letters of administration issued to Woodrow Huber as administrator of the estate of Ella Huber. Letters testamentary issued to Nellie E. Crissinger as executrix of the estate of Earl L. Crissinger. Account filed in the estate of Bessie Hunsicker. Private sale ordered in the Charles D. Nickler estate. Application for guardian for Herbert Huber filed. Appraisal and sale ordered in the Lewis Kessler estate.

CLEARS COUNTY ON SEWER JOB

Sword Says It Would Give $1,000 Cash or Machinery Use on Project.

County Engineer Howard Sword said today that Richland county had offered the city of Mansfield either the use of county machinery up to $1,000 or a cash share of $1,000 to aid in the construction of a storm sewer in the vicinity of McPherson street.

Sword made his statement following an article in which city officials stated that they believed the county should assume the responsibility of building the sewer because the water causing property damage in the city came from a "live stream" originating in the county.

Sword said that there was no argument over the matter but that some adjustments would have to be made. He stated that bids offered by contractors had been too high and that the work would be done as soon as the city and county had agreed on the matter.

City officials had pointed out that if the county gave only the use of its machinery up to $1,000 that the city's share would be far more than $1,500. The city has agreed to pay $1,500 to purchase the pipe necessary for the sewer.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Modern girls and girls of long ago may be compared and contrasted by new books for older girls now available in the Mansfield Public Library's children's department. One is a biography of an important pioneer woman and the other is a sequel to another popular book and tells the story of a girl of 1941 and her career.

NARCISSA WHITMAN by Jeannette Eaton—Narcissa was a healthy educated girl of a century ago eager to teach and desiring adventure. She was very much interested in the Indians of the recently explored western country beyond the Rocky mountains but for a long time she couldn't be accepted as a teacher or a missionary there because women could not make the hazardous trip. As the bride of Dr. Marcus Whitman she did dare the journey however as one of the first women ever to cross the Rockies. Her experiences in the far West make this an exciting and inspiring book.

SALLY AND HER HOMEMAKING by May Worthington—Sally Lewis is a trained home economist working in for the homemaking editor of a newspaper when we meet her again in this book. Later she works for a magazine for homemakers and then in her own home. There are many useful recipes and household helps in this book which make it interesting for many girls not accustomed to reading a child's book.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Well tan my hide and call me pigskin. I am just now getting some gridiron dope on 1942 that others have been kicking around this long while.

Seems the rule limiting Ohio high schools to eight games didn't go through after all. The schools voted on it, but the board of the Ohio High School Athletic association didn't get around to it. Or so I'm told.

And some schools are planning to go as high as 10 and 11 games again next autumn.

* * *

Only limit on the high school football schedules in Ohio next fall will be the starting and stopping dates, Sept. 18 and Nov. 28.

Mansfield high school is now planning a nine game schedule, with six games at home and three away.

Home games already booked are: Sept. 18, Akron West; Sept. 25, Elyria; Oct. 23, Massillon. Road games on the card are: Oct. 2, at Sandusky; Oct 16, at Springfield; Nov. 6, at Canton McKinley.

And open dates which the high school hopes to fill on the home schedule are: Oct. 9, Oct. 30, Nov. 14.

* * *

Toledo Libbey and Youngstown Rayen are among the schools being considered for the open dates.

Newark owes Mansfield a game here, but thus far has been unable to arrange its schedule to fit into the empty spaces on the Tyger ticket

The Wildcats wanted Sept. 25, the date already alloted to Elyria. So if the Tygers and the 'Cats can't get together in 1942, the 'Cats owe the Tygers a scrap in 1943 or some distant date. And they really OWE it. The Tygers helped 'em pack the park at Newark this fall and it's Newark's turn to return the favor.

While the Tygers are trimming only one game from their schedule for 1942, the season is being shortened by two weeks, and no Thanksgiving game is being considered.

The weather may be just balmy the latter part of next November, but it's a big gamble, and the chances are that night games would be snowed out even as in 1941.

And the early close of the football season will give Cage Coach Vern Hoffman a little time in which to prepare his heroes for the bucketball wars next winter.

And in view of the disastrous early season showing of the Tyger tossers last winter and this, it seems to me the high school might do well to take it easy in the early cage schedule of 1942-43. They don't HAVE to play all the toughest teams in the state in the first few weeks of the season.

* * *

Coincidence dept.: How was I to know when I wrote yesterday's column about those bowling addicts, Lois Williams and Juanita Miles, that yesterday was the Williams gal's birthday?

* * *

Sorry it was overlooked dept.: Fred Miller's Orange St. Cafe just set a new season's single game record for Mansfield bowling Wednesday night, that's all. Turned in the first 1100 game of the season, 1101 to be exact. And didn't get all-American mention in yesterday's paper. Orlie Grable got 184, Fritz Vogel 237, Art Thomas 254, Ed Henrich 211, and Carl Phillipon 215. Add 'em up. The glare you see in the sky these nights isn't from the Christmas lighting on Mansfield streets. It's the reflection from my red face.

Merge Lightweight Titles In Garden

NEW YORK—(AP)—Two world lightweight championships will be merged into one at Madison Square Garden tonight as a result of the current collaboration between Abe Greene, the National Boxing association president, and the New York state athletic commission—with Promoter Mike Jacobs acting as intermediary.

* * *

Sammy Angott of Washington, Pa., the N. B. A. champion, and Lew Jenkins of Sweetwater, Tex., recognized ruler in New York, will battle it out over the 15-round route in the third such two-title affair staged in recent months.

* * *

A crowd of about 10,000 is expected to pay about $25,000 to watch them. Earlier this year Gus Lesnevich took over the unanimous light-heavyweight title and Tony Zale gained the middleweight crown.

Yankees Voted Best Team

Return To Top Spot In Associated Press Poll.

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK—(AP)—It's getting almost routine to announce the New York Yankees as the No. 1 team of the year.

The world baseball champions were awarded that honor again today for 1941, marking the fifth time in six years they have been acclaimed by the sports writers participating in the Associated Press poll. Joe McCarthy's men, who also topped the list in 1936-'37-'38 and 39, also kept intact the record of baseball teams, having headed the field every year since the Yanks first won in 1932.

* * *

It was no runaway, however, for the Yanks as they polled 198 votes from the 85 experts taking part in the balloting. Minnesota's Gophers, winner of 17 straight football games and the nation's top gridiron eleven for the last two years, received 165 tallies on the basis of three votes for first, two for second and one for third.

Only five writers failed to name the Yankees for one of the three spots. Forty-nine rated the Bombers first, 22 second and seven third. The Gophers received 25 first place votes, 42 seconds and six thirds.

The race was strictly a two-team affair. With the Chicago Bears finishing third with 29 points, two more than the Brooklyn baseball Dodgers, the other first place votes were divided among seven teams. The Bears and Dodgers received two each, the Texas football Longhorns three which helped them finish fifth with 18 points, and the Washington State basketball team and the Notre Dame, Duke and Ohio State gridiron elevens, one apiece.

* * *

Wisconsin's N. C. A. A. basketball champs failed to receive a first place vote but got enough seconds and third to tally 14 points. The University of Washington's Poughkeepsie rowing kings broke into the scoring with seven points while the Boston Bruins headed the hockey field with four and one-half tallies.

Soose Takes Reeves Bout

Takes Easy Win From Cleveland Fighter.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The retired middleweight champion, Billy Soose, marked up his first appearance in the light heavyweight ranks today as an easy winner over Jimmy Reeves of Cleveland.

Showing that he may soon be a full-fledged heavy, the Farrell, Pa., boxer fought at 174 and had a six-pound pull over his opponent.

Reeves made a lively start to take the first round, but the second was even and from there on it was all Soose.

* * *

What gave the 7,778 customers a bigger kick, however, was the high-powered punching ability which Jackie Wilson, 142, the long larruping puncher from Los Angeles, displayed in a quick victory over Mike Kaplan, 145, of Boston, who has won from such fighters as Fritzie Zivic and Red Cochrane.

* * *

It was a right to the jaw which ended Kaplan's activities at 57 seconds of the third round. The result was a technical knockout, as one of his handlers jumped into the ring, but the technicality didn't matter much.

* * *

In the preliminaries, all scheduled for five rounds, Toughey Jones, 160, Cincinnati, got a third-round technical knockout of Jack Stausser, 162, Steubenville, and decisions were won by Jimmy Grimm, 148, Louisville, Ky., over Mike Lucas, 146, Pittsburgh; Garvey (Lefty) Young, 144, Boston, over Victor Trose, 144, New York, and Harvey Dubs, 142½, Windsor, Ont., over Billy Murray, 139, Bellaire.

Loudonville 2nds Nip Appleseed

LOUDONVILLE — Johnny Appleseed cagers playing their first game under new Coach Charles Fall, dropped a game to the Loudonville reserves last night by two points after tieing up the game in the fourth quarter.

Trailing by three points, 4-7, at the end of the first quarter, the Appleseed squad tallied five points in each of the remaining quarters and in the fourth stanza tied the game up just before losing. The final score was 18-16, as Coach Leo Grimes' boys came back to win.

Goat Hill Club to Hold Turkey Shoot

Goat Hill gun club members, there are 70 of them now, will go gunning for their Christmas dinners Sunday afternoon when they stage a turkey and chicken shoot at their club range, starting at 1 p. m.

* * *

The shoot is open to the public, and events will be arranged for the rankest amateurs as well as for the hot-shots.

* * *

Everyone, according to Carl Maul, club president, will have a chance of winning.

Odds Favor Canton Club

Robertson To Start For Mansfield Tyger Quint.

The odds are definitely against Coach Vern Hoffman's Mansfield Tygers tonight as they invade the small Canton McKinley gym for a bucketball battle with the Bulldogs, but it's also a good bet that the Tygers won't be beaten until the final gun.

Considerable improvement was shown by the Tygers in their games last week with Newark and Elyria, and at times during their Saturday night victory over Elyria they gave indications that they are beginning to hit their stride.

These streaks of form came more often than not while Jim Robertson was performing at a guard position, and Coach Hoffman, impressed by the better than 30 per cent shooting average turned in by Robertson, has indicated that he'll start Jim in tonight's game.

Robertson will team with Jack Shiplet at the guards, Paul Dietzel will be at center, and Bob Winbigler and Dean Hahn at forwards.

Veterans on the Mansfield team recall that they played their best game of the regular season last spring against Canton McKinley when they were edged in the closing minutes of play by the Bulldogs at the Tyger gym. They may also remember that they failed to score a single bucket in the last half at Canton.

Coach Bup Rearick had indicated that even if Aaron Simms, offensive star who was ineligible for last week's 60-36 massacre of Cleveland John Marshall, should become eligible for tonight's game, he probably will start on the bench.

Vic Wernet gave such a capable performance as Simms' sub, that he's won himself a regular job for the present.

Rearick was well pleased with the Canton opener, since Marshall has a really good team that is doped to win the Cleveland Senate title.

Bushnell Crowded Out of Top Spot

A one-point victory by Newman school over Bushnell crowded the Bushnell team out of a five way tie for first place in the grammer school basketball league yesterday, leaving the top spot in charge of Woodland, Hedges, Bowman and Newman schools, each with five victories and one loss.

Woodland topped Brinkerhoff, 21-3, while Hedges walloped West Fifth, 21-0. Bowman held its claim on a share of the top spot with a 19-10 win over Prospect.

In the other game, Western edged Carpenter, 4-2.

Donna Schuster Rolls Second Straight 600 League Series

Donna Schuster last night in the women's bowling league rolled her second straight 600 series in league play, turning in a 626 total to add to her 647 of Tuesday in the matinee league.

While the Tuesday series was high-lighted by 12 straight strikes, spaced over two games, last night saw the Provident Loan's third sacker become the second woman in Mansfield bowling history to turn in three 200 games in one league match.

She had 213-204-209 for her 626 total.

Last April Margaret Baker rolled 226-221-230 in the women's league for an all-time record of 677.

Only other 200 game chalked up in the women's league last night was scored by Mary McMullen with 215, high game for the circuit.

Keglerettes rolling over 500 last night included: Sue Humphrey 562, Mary McMullen 557, Thelma Linster 524, Margaret Baker 514, and Kate Cheney 500.

Safety Cabs rolled high game of 801 but Carek Florists with games of 771 and 755 had high total of 2261. The Cabs had 2246.

Both teams scored shutout victories.

4 Teams Tied In B-League

Fifth Club Only One Game Behind Leaders.

Commercial "B" league bowlers had a four-way tie for first place after last night's kegling at Colony alleys, with Mansfield Printing, Jones Chris-Craft, Ingram-Martin, and Ringside setting the pace of 22 victories and 14 defeats, and Kent-Rummel Coal in fifth place on 21-15.

Ringside blanked M. & M. Service Station 3-0, Kent Rummels shut out Hecht & Casey, Ingram-Martin scored a 2-1 win over Heilman Grocery, Jones Chris-Craft defeated Yuncker's 2-1, and Mansfield Printing won from Mansfield Rug & Linoleum 2-1.

* * *

Doolittle set the scoring pace with 634, and Jim Weems had the only other 600 total, 610. Doolittle also had high game of 248, while Kams and Glenn Lanning, sr., each had 245.

BARONS MEET HERSHEY FOR FIRST ICE CLASH

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—The Cleveland Barons prepared today for their first meeting this season on the home ice with the Hershey Bears, Saturday night.

Hershey moved to the top of the American League Western division standings Wednesday night with a victory over Pittsburgh, then dropped to second last night when the Indianapolis Capitals whipped New Haven 8 to 3 to take the lead, The Barons are in third place.

Rams Barely Edge Butler

2 Bull Dog Buckets Almost Tie Game In Last Quarter.

BUTLER—Madison high school's Rams barely edged Butler high school here last night in a non-league game, 24-22, as Dwight Forbes and Edwin Harris of Butler tanked two long shots in the closing minutes of the game to bring their team within two points of a tie.

High scorer was Harold Hammer of Madison who flipped in four field goals and two fouls to pace the pack with 10 points.

His nearest rival was Ken Windsor, also of Madison, who connected with two field goals and three free throws for a total of seven points.

Elwin Harris, Butler star, was held to one field goal and one free throw for three points.

Ahead 5-4 at the end of the quarter, the Rams lost the lead to Butler, 12-10, at the half and regained it, 19-14, at the end of the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter Pritchard of Butler tanked a pivot shot, followed by a rebound shot by Hammer and a free throw apiece for Hammer and Windsor.

With the score 23-16 in favor of the Rams, Hoover tapped in a bucket to make it 23-18 and Roberts of Madison sunk a free throw to make it 24-18.

* * *

It was at this point that Forbes and Harris threw the scare into Madison and the two balls into the bucket.

In the reserve game the Rams lost their first game of the season.

Ohio University Finally Beaten By Mt. Union Club

(By Associated Press)

Ohio University's Bobcats, after a three-year reign among the Classiest basketball squads in the nation, have been tamed by the Purple raiders of Little Mount Union college.

The Raiders beat the Bobcats, 58 to 40, last night at Alliance with Charles (Pappy) Joachim, flashy Mount forward, clicking off 25 points.

* * *

Ohio U. kept the score close during the first half, tying the game up three times, but Mount Union dominated the second period.

The loss eliminated the Bobcats from the state's list of unbeaten colleges.

Ohio Northern won its second straight Ohio conference contest, beating Heidelberg's Student Princes, 53 to 38, and remaining unbeaten for the season.

After a shaky start, the University of Cincinnati hit its stride to crush Marietta college, 55 to 44, at Marietta.

Reports Dreams Are Natural And Not Supernatural

FRANKLIN, Ind.—(INS)—Dreams are natural, not supernatural, according to Dr. R. H. Kent of Franklin college.

"Years ago, the world thought dreams were prophetic," Dr. Kent said. "Now we have changed our concept of human personality. We believe that dreams are dominated by some sensory field, prevailingly visual, and that they are responses to definite stimulations that play upon us.

'A dream is always a report on the dreamer. We now ask: 'What does this dream tell us about the personality of the dreamer?' rather than 'What is the interpretation of this dream?"

Dr. Kent said that nothing is taboo in dreams and that man's inhibitions melt away in the nocturnal march of subconscious or unconscious mental activities.

Although man's conscious life may follow a rigidly moral pattern, in his slumber, he may stray from the beaten path, according to Dr. Kent.

LOSES LUSTER

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(U.P.)—The San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge, famous combined suspension and cantilever span across the San Francisco bay, will lose its familiar shiny luster when the next coat of paint is applied.

The Office of Production Management notified state officials that the aluminum paint formerly used no longer would be obtainable because of national defense requirements, and a grey paint without aluminum content will be substituted.

CHEESE MADE IN U. S.

DAVIS, Cal.—(U.P.)—With Romano cheese no longer available from Italy, the College of Agriculture here of the University of California has succeeded in perfecting a process for its production. Five California cheese manufacturers will start production at once. It is made from raw cow's milk, coated with cottonseed oil and black pepper before being cured.

FLY SHOELESS

TULANE, Cal.—(U.P.)—Air cadets at the army air corps primary training school here rarely wear their shoes when they take off for flight.

They explain that modern, high-speed planes have such sensitive foot controls that heavy shoes hamper the correct "feel." Some of the pilots fly in stocking feet, but most prefer moccasins.

PRISON CUPID GETS BOOST

LA PLATA, Argentina—(U.P.)—Prisoners in Buenos Aires province now can get married without spending a cent, according to a new decree. Hitherto, if a prisoner was granted permission to marry, he, or the bride-to-be, had to pay 60 pesos (about $15) to cover expenses of the guard escorting the couple to the ceremony.

OWNS ISLAND

BOWDOINHAM, Me.—(U.P.)—Arthur Lee Stevens, a 12-year-old from Rhode Island, has what many a boy has dreamed of—a real island on which to play pirates.

The island, a gift from his father, is a rocky little cone containing a summer cottage and located off the Bowdoinham shore in famed Merrymeeting Bay. Arthur pays all real estate taxes himself. They total $1.39 annually.

NEED $100? HERE'S WHAT TO DO

Tell us how much you need, $20 to $500; how much you can repay monthly; and answer a few simple questions.

Loans made three ways: (1) on signature; (2) on car; (3) on furniture. No endorsers. Friends or relatives are not told. Fair treatment in case of sickness or unemployment. Payments include charges of 2% monthly on balances of $300 or less and 1½% monthly on any remainder—the same rate to everyone. Nothing else to pay. To apply—phone, write or visit office. Money ready next day—or sooner if necessary.

STOCK LEADERS CLIMB UPWARD BY FRACTIONS

Few Favored Issues Manage To Tack on Gains of Point and More.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Leading stocks took an irregularly higher path in today's market despite uninspiring war news and business developments.

While gains usually were in small fractions, and activity slow after the start, a few "blue chips" managed to tack on a point or so near the second hour.

Brokers attributed the somewhta more confident shade bidding partly to the belief the recent dive of stock averages to new lows since the spring of 1938 called for at least a technical "correction." Wall Street was cheered by the battle bulletins from Africa and Russia but found scant encouragement in the cloudier Far Eastern picture.

Heartening to market followers was the Dun & Bradstreet survey disclosing public spending throughout the country, which suffered a setback last week because of the entrance of the United States into the world conflict, had revived briskly in virtually all centers.

The Christmas buying rush was resumed this week, the review added, at a tempo comparable with early December.

SET UP DEFENSE SQUADS TONIGHT

Civilian Committeemen To Complete Plans For City Precautionary Program.

the American Legion, which has offered its services.

The Richland County Medical society, at its meeting last night, recommended Dr. Leopold Adams as chairman of the medical defense committee. He and Dr. Howard Peck, newly-elected president of the society, will serve as two members of the medical committee. Others on the group will be selected to represent the hospital, the nursing profession, the local health department, the Red Cross, pharmacists, the dental profession, and morticians.

Arrangements for private defense precautions were being completed by a number of industries and by utilities. Sheriff Frank Robinson named five deputies, all employes of the Ohio Fuel Gas company, who will guard the company's property in the county. They are Kenneth D. Hyatt, E. M. Shanks, Walter Burkholder, O. F. Buxton, and F. E. Groff.

Judge Kalbfleisch called upon the public to conserve waste paper and dispose of it through charitable societies.

"Waste paper of all kinds is a vitally important raw material," Judge Kalbfleisch said. "Old newspapers, magazines, corrugated boxes, and waste paper are the raw materials from which paperboard is made. Paperboard is needed to manufacture the corrugated cartons and paper shipping containers which are so greatly needed for defense shipments, for food of all sorts, and for many other essentials of our daily lives."

Meanwhile, the impact of war struck the home from in Ohio as state defense officials, already preparing to ration rubber and automobile tires, anticipated government control of distribution of several hundred other commodities vital to the war effort.

Wilfrid J. Burns, assistant director of the state defense council, said that Ohio will be ready on Jan. 2 to start handing out rubber ration cards to thousands of persons eligible to buy new tires. He said the same machinery now being set up for this rationing program may be used to carry out similar programs for other scarce commodities.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Present Program—Children of the Beer school, Wooster road, will present a Christmas program today at 8 p. m.

Story Hour—Mansfield Public library will hold its annual Christmas story hour in the children's department Saturday morning at 9:30 a. m. Miss Myra Lorimer will be in charge.

Club Hears Choir—The Mansfield Senior high school a capella choir of 100 voices entertained Kiwanis club members and their guests yesterday noon at the regular meeting of the club in the the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Dr. W. H. Wolford presided at the meeting.

Reports Purse Loss — Mrs. J. S. Baer, Highland avenue, reported to police last night that her purse containing $15 had been stolen while she was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Richard Maul, 180 Bowman street. Mrs. Baer said that she believed some one entered the house from the rear while she and her daughter were in the front room of the home.

Check Two Blazes — Firemen were called out twice late yesterday to check minor blazes. The first run was made to Lily street where an auto owned by Robert Garrison, Mansfield, caught fire after a short circuit in the wiring. Later, firemen were called to the home of R. J. Hancock, 500 West Fourth street, when a fire started while residents were attempting to connect a gas stove.

Still $48,000 To Go—With eight more days remaining to pay personal taxes for the final half of the year, there was still approximately $48,000 due today. Receipt of $5,869 yesterday brought total payments to $124,358. The charge totals about $172,000. Collection of tax on classified property is lagging, but the general tax collection is good, Treasurer Charles C. Payne said.

Settle Injury Claim—A claim for injuries suffered in June, 1938, by Beverly Mott, 13, a resident of the Richland county children's home, when she was struck by a car were settled for $14 today in probate court. The amount was paid by J. F. Ehart, owner of the car which struck the child. Agreement was reached with Harry V. Downs, superintendent at the home.

Bromfield at Session — Author Louis Bromfield, member of the Ohio Farm Security advisory committee, attended a meeting of the committee and farm leaders yesterday at Rio Grande college where they discussed plans for stepping southern Ohio agriculture up to war-time production. The session was one of several being held in the state to make farmers conscious of the need for more food production in 1942.
